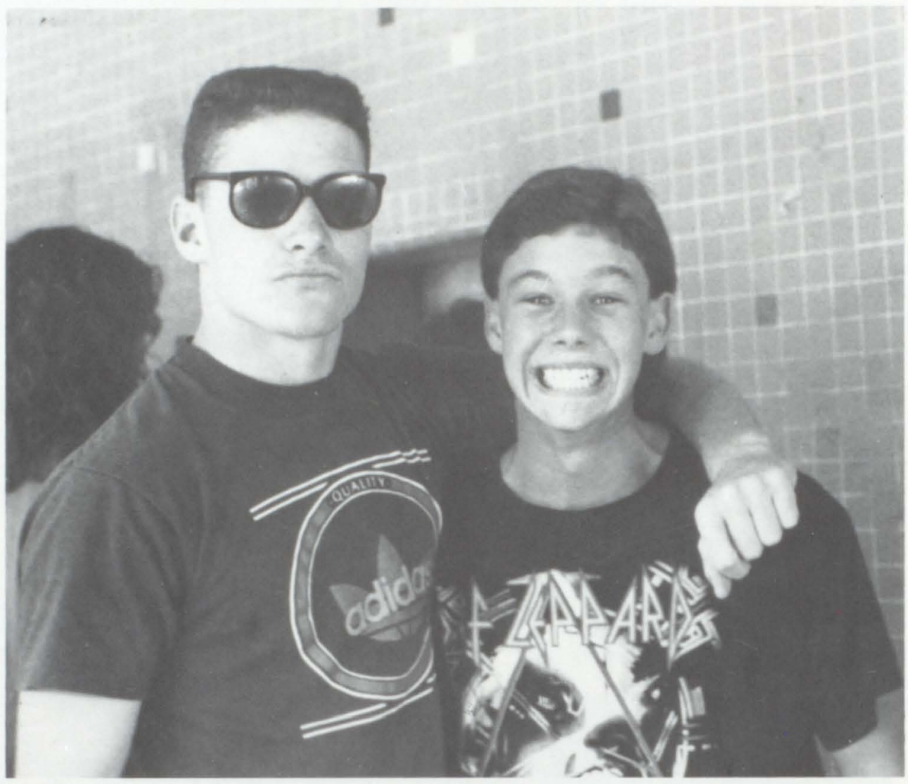
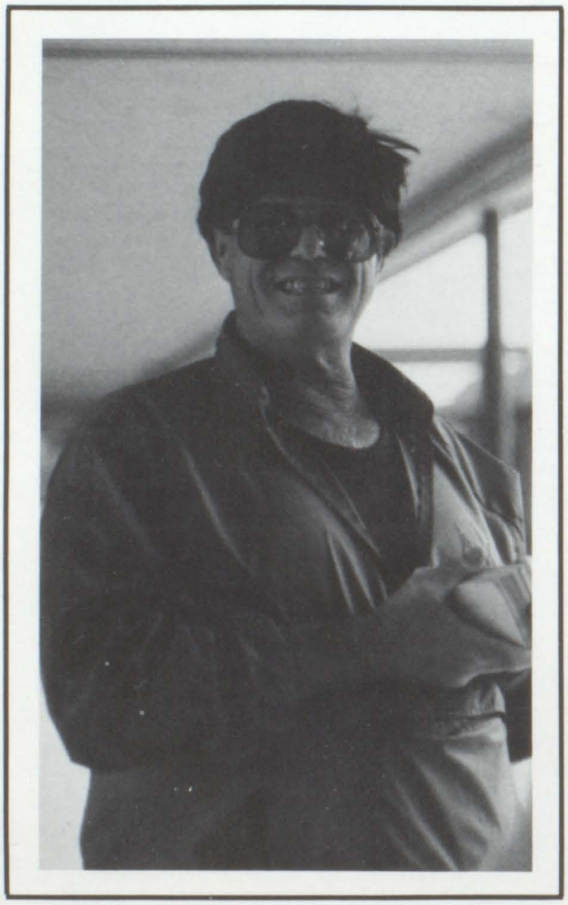
HOT SHOTS!



"When a Husky says smile, you smile!" urges David Hollingshaus to Todd Houchins.



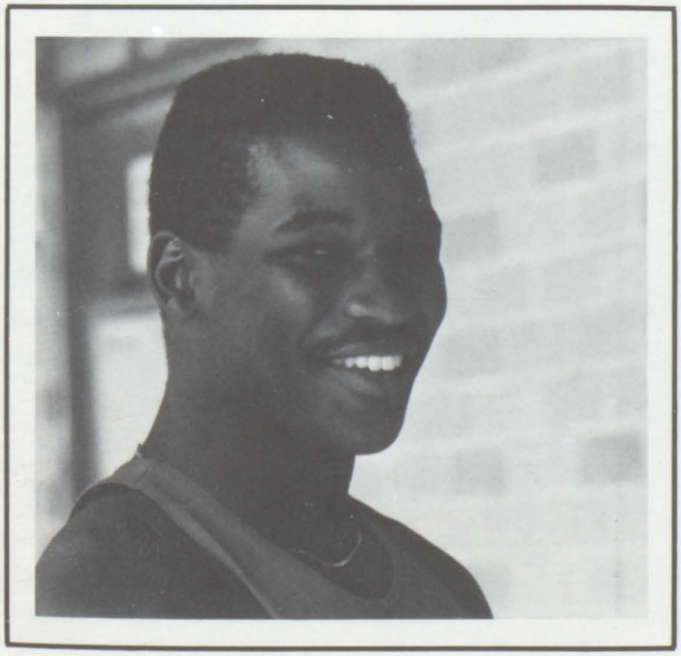
A face only a mother could love . . . Coach Ingram during the off-season, actually, supporting the cheer and fun of spirit week activities by giving everyone a good laugh.

Definitely centerfold material! Senior Augustine Arreaga takes time to grace our pages with his great smile.

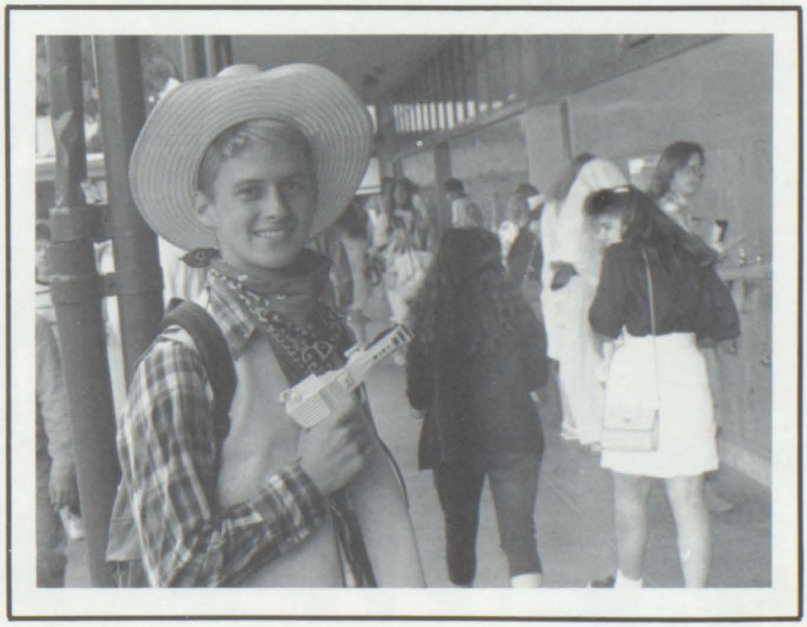
THIS IS THE Husky LIFESTYLE!

Viva allegre! Senior, Lisa Lee, shares a laugh, sombrero and all with buddies at lunch the day of the sophomore skit.

Welcome to Husky country! The life of a Washington Husky is never dull, as you may have already experienced. Lunchtime activities include being with friends, prepping for that test you have fifth period, participating in the games of the week, or attending a rally. After school hours are taken up by hours of practice for those dedicated athletes, committee meetings, play practices and rally squad activities. Outside of school there are plenty of ways to show your Husky style. You can root on our awesome football, volleyball, or swim teams, catch a drama production, or attend a dance D.J.'d by our very own ASB D.J.'s. You don't have to search far to find an activity that interests you. There are many clubs and classes you can sign up for to whet your appetite for involvement. Keep your eyes open and you'll soon find the place where you belong!



Hot shot, Rudy Beasley, a Husky football hero "takes five" for a terrific shot.



"Freeze partner!" The original urban cowboy, Junior, Joe Hedgecock practices his sharp shooting at lunch the day of the junior skit.

A Little Give And Take

A true friendship is probably one of the most cherished relationships ever formed during your lifetime. A true friend learns to accept you for all your faults. A true friend will always be there to lend you a shoulder to cry on, and to cheer you up when you are down. On the other hand, a friend is someone you can trust with all your deepest secrets and someone you can share all your happiest moments with. A true friend has the guts to be honest with you when the time comes, but also has the ability to protect your feelings. In order to be a best friend you have to give and take. A friendship is so important it is worth a little sacrifice.

"Two's company, but three's definitely a crowd," say Juniors, Warren Phelps and Zach Fletcher to Sophomore, Tom Shane, as he is ejected from his place on the bench.

Discussing the agony of their latest gymnastics injuries are Senior, Carrie Boudreau, and Sophomore, Jennifer Jeffrey, both varsity gymnasts.

Time Warp! Seniors Chris Dawal, Shannon McKay, and Kerry Brooks, take a trip in the time machine and are stuck in the tie dye, pastel, peace symbol world of the '60's.

FRIENDS AMIGOS PALS Buddies allies

Buddies! Good friends Cassy Botelho and Dina Xavier enjoyed the lunchtime activities together during spirit week. You can often find Cassy and Dina together around campus any time of the year.

Sophomore, Toria Costa, offers a ride to Cheri McCutcheon while Samantha Duthler follows along.

Bravo! Seniors Tiffany Dewitt and Stephanie Keller applaud a victory by the Senior class at the ASB Rally on the first day of spirit week. The Seniors went on to capture the first place trophy for the spirit week activities.

Hey! You can't do that on television!! Seniors, Rod Greene and Todd Houchins getting a little too close for comfort!

HUSKY SPIRIT and PRIDE

Take me, I'm yours! Freshman spirit was supported by Izetta Fang, Mervat Ghaith, Jenise Groves, Christina Sandoval, Julie Porter, and Jennifer Fritz. One Junior was quoted as saying the Freshmen were "very impressive. They started a lot of chants involving all four classes." The Freshmen rounded out their dress up days with Sports day, Twins day, "Wacky" day, and a Toga day.

Peace! Junior, Trayce Hentrich, participates in a peaceful demonstration of spirit as the Juniors fight (nonviolently) for the Spirit Week trophy. Juniors included their classmates in Hippie day, Slob day, and Flintstone day. They were wildly western the day of their skit.

Hank, our ever popular and lovable mascot, popped up in many creative ways during the class skits this year. First, as Little Red Riding Hank, and then as the Saviors of the Junior and Senior classes whose spirit had been stolen. Hank did in fact, boost spirit and led the Huskies to a 47-7 victory over the helpless warriors of Mission San Jose.

Come here and give grandma a kiss! Sexy Seniors, Chris Lucius, Rudy Beasley, and Travis DiGiulio in drag on opposite sex day. Senior spirit led the way for the Huskies. Capturing the Spirit Week trophy was easily done due to the participation of Seniors in Sheet day, Fiesta day, Opposite Sex day, and as pirates the day of the skit.

Shhh! I'm undercover! Sophomore, Norma Garcia keeps a low profile on "Ganster" day during this year's Spirit Week. The other Sophomore spirit days included, Lumberjack day, Toga day, and Nerd day.

Taking pride in your school is important, but taking pride in Washington High School is easy. You can take pride in yourself for getting an "A" on that Chemistry test you studied six hours for, or for receiving a student of the week award. You can take pride in your team when you beat the team ranked fifth in northern California, 40-7! You can take pride in your friends and fellow schoolmates when they are selected 'prep of the week' or 'all league' for their sport. Most of all you can take pride in your school, our school, that consistently does well in all athletics, in CAP testing and in planning activities to keep the student body in touch with what's going on in the world around us. Spirit Week pits us class against class, but in the end we know it's up to all of us to come through with a win together. The respect we have for ourselves and each other is very apparent and necessary to keep up our school's reputation as NUMBER ONE!

The THRILL of VICTORY!

GO HUSKIES!

Everyone dreams of experiencing the thrill of victory, and often on the road to success you experience the agony of defeat. If you were among the crowd at the Logan-Washington football game, you experienced the ultimate thrill of victory when our team conquered the not-so-mighty Colts with great power and determination. Our team worked as hard as they possibly could to prove that they were the best. Unfortunately, they also experienced the agony of defeat vs. Granada when their dreams of an NCS championship were stomped on. Believing in yourself, your team, or your school, makes a victory even more sweet. Dedication and loyalty from everyone involved is always necessary, as is hard work and determination. Having someone to back you, showing pride in what you do, makes you even more motivated. By coming together, a victory is possible. By showing pride in our school and the things we do, we can all experience the thrill of VICTORY!

Senior running back, Dustin Bearby watches the remaining minutes of the first quarter against Mission San Jose from the sidelines. Dustin suffered a broken collar bone in the first offensive play of the game.

The AGONY of DEFEAT

A picture is worth a thousand words. Senior Chris Lucius suffers the brunt of the pain by himself on the sidelines. Chris too went down at the homecoming game during the first play, the result of which was a broken ankle.

Senior Bev Landreth excites her English class on the Senior skit day at the prospect of taking the first place spirit week trophy. The class of '89 did succeed in doing so.

"Our work was easy, the crowd took care of themselves," said one cheerleader. The '88-'89 Rally Squad had no trouble supporting our number one football team, especially in their 47-7 and 40-7 victories over Mission and Logan.

Senior Heidi Anderson, ASB President.

ASB: Heavy On Unity And Fun

The gavel bangs down and council is in session. One period every week, students get together to plan, manage and maintain student activities and a unified student voice. All this is done between regularly held meetings and special lunch time committee meeting.

But even though a lot of time is spent, a lot of fun is had by all. Everything from the ASB rallies, lunch time games, airbands, assemblies and student exchanges were part of the council's achievements. But one of our most special moments was our Student Council all-night lock-in. We gained a tremendous amount of respect for each other and as a whole while we learned and shared new ideas and techniques learned at leadership conferences by various Student Council members. The end result was a more unified and informed Student Council along with strong friendships.

Appointed Officers Recommend Student Council

A majority of the students at Washington High School do not really know what goes on at Student Council meetings or what officers really do. Students Council officers' main obligations are to work on activities such as air bands, staff appreciation, and games at lunch. But most officers wouldn't think of Student Council only as obligations but they look at its rewards also. I'm sure if you asked any member of Student Council if they recommended it, I'm sure they would say "go for it". Here are a few rewards some StudCo members feel they receive:

Rebecca Hodson: getting to make new friends and forming stronger relationships
Amy Mallory: getting insight into school activities and feeling a sense of responsibility
Robert Mangrobang: getting to know what is going on Renee Theriault: a sense of unity and getting to go Christmas caroling
Chris Dawal: feeling useful and feeling like you are putting in something positive
Lisa Lee: meeting people you wouldn't normally meet

Senior Tony Anselmi and Senior Jill Kazares, Boys and Girls Athletic Representatives.

PTSA Representative, Juniors Shannon Kearney and Rebecca Hodson.

Inter-League Council Representatives, Senior Shannon McKay and Junior Maya Burghardt.

School Board Representatives, Seniors Greg Leonard and Sandra Kim.

Survey Says. . . Counselors are #1

Not only do our counselors handle our schedules and plans for the future, but they also have some pet projects of their own. Mr. Stull as you may know recruits many for various essay contests he is involved with. He has produced some terrific winners. Mrs. Polland is involved with our Student of the Week awards, seeing that as many students as possible are recognized for their hard work. This year Mrs. Polland also began a Peer Counseling program, training about 50 students and enabling them in turn to help classmates and schoolmates if the time arises. Mrs. Minson, in addition to her counseling duties, teaches a Senior English class.

As the question, "Name an administrator that you would go to if you had a problem," from our own "Friendly Feud" game revealed, counselors were the number one answer.

WHS counselors take time to see that you are taking the classes needed for graduation and college, and that you are happy in those classes. If there's a problem, a solution can always be reached.

Vice Principal, Mr. Bray is always out and about, looking to solve any problems that have come up, and to check up on the lifestyles of WHS Huskies.

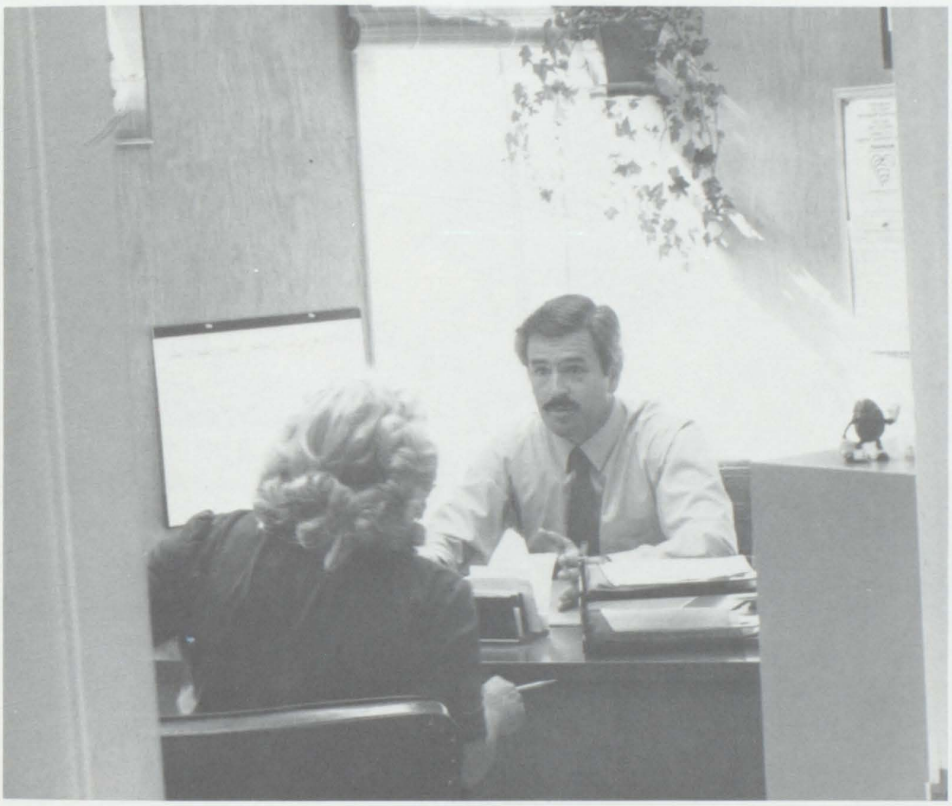
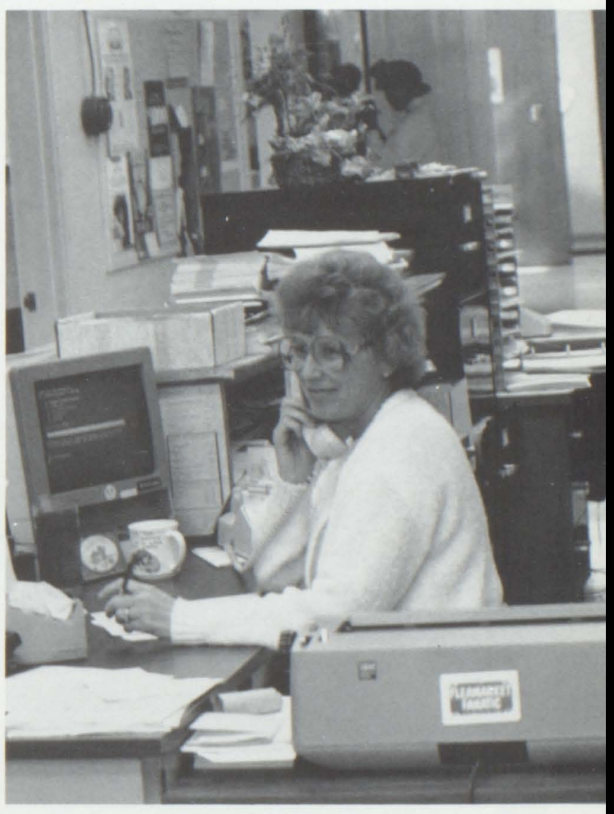
Who's The Boss? WHS Administrators Lead The Way . . .

Our administrators work hard at keeping our school running smoothly. Under the direction of Principal Daryl Talken, Washington students experience a calm, productive learning environment, and at the same time a fair ground to express either gratitude or any difficulties you may have with your school life. Our administrators are all caring, sensitive leaders who are always looking to improve what our school has accomplished. Each principal has a designated job. Mr. Bray handles all difficulties with scheduling or locker assignments. Mr. Crosetti, in only his second year at WHS, has the task of organizing the 'Senior' parking lot. Mr. Rabeneau has the exciting job of discipling Huskies who need his guidance. Any day, any time of he year, you can stop an administrator with a question or a problem, or simply to say hi, and you'll always receive an answer.



Mr. Crosetti seen here hard at work with counselor Mrs. Polland.



Mrs. Wall, our Registrar, keeps the office running smoothly every day of the year.

A Variety For All

Academics: The Great Mental Challenge

Academics are probably the biggest concern of students at WHS in terms of their future careers and lifetime goals. If you don't enjoy your Chemistry or Physics classes, I'd be willing to bet that we don't read about your astonishing nuclear physics career 20 years from now. What you take in high school and what you excel at is often what shapes your future. Our WHS mathematics department offers everything from the most basic courses to the very advanced, calculus. Scientifically, we offer chemistry, biology, and physiology, a basic life science or physics. Though it may seem as though you study the same thing in English every year, each level is more advanced. The great literary giants are discussed as our their works. Poetry, novels, and vocabulary is to be memorized all to improve your knowledge and SAT scores. Each teacher has a favorite subject as do we the students. Although you are required to take a certain dose of each academic subject, I'm sure there's one that will prove or has proven to be your favorite. Academics should be more than a 'boring requirement'. All academic subjects should challenge you mentally. Everything from Math and Science to English and History, there is a whole world of exciting challenges awaiting you today!

"O.K. Just gimme a minute. I really do know the answer, I think . . ." stalls sophomore Eric Byers in his Geometry class.

Shielded by her purse, senior Shannon Riche catches a few z's during one of Mr. Woodward's tintilating lectures.

"I've got to finish this before 4th period or Mrs. Robison will kill me!" urges senior Augustin Arreaga just before being caught by Mr. French in art.

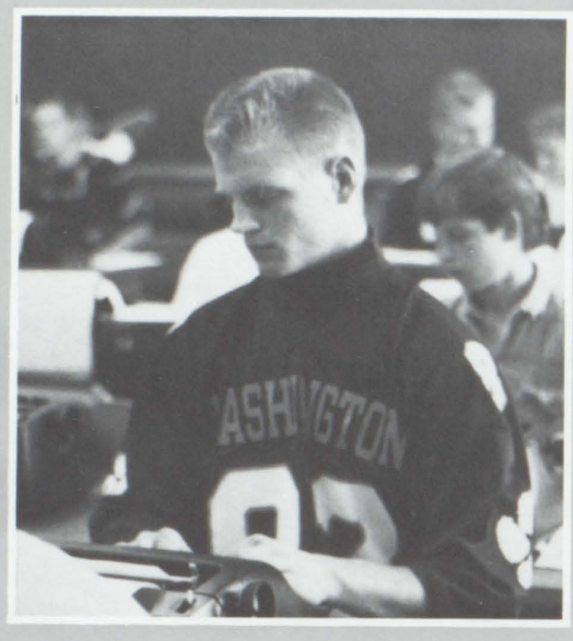
EMICS

"I can't take it any more!!!" screams senior Chris Lucius during a very stressful English final 6th period.

"Hey, what did you get on the last test?" asks Robert Green of his 5th period English Class.

"She got you there," comments Andre McKinney to Kevin Sellers and Rohullah Shams as Mrs. Morse humiliates them in their Economics class.

BUSINESS



Trevor West shows us that not only is he talented on the football field but holds his own on the keyboard as well.

"Smile Tara Zades! . . ." Okay that's enough, go back to work. The job of a T.A. is never done.

War Games Part II. Derek Hernandez and his trusty Apple IIe nukes Mission San Jose. Yeah Derek!!!

It All Makes Cents

Whether you wish to learn to type, run a computer, or balance your checkbook, you'll find it here in the Business Department. The Business Department is here to prepare you for the rapidly changing job market and to give you the basic business skills necessary to keep your personal lives in order. This year business students competed in the essay contest "Invest in America" sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Winners received stock certificates in Bay Area companies. Also, students participated in the FUSD Office Skills Contest showing their expertise in keyboarding, advanced typing, and calculator operations. Winners received trophies. The department started an all new course of study this year beginning with the ever popular keyboarding course which now includes half the work on computers. The department hopes that all courses will include computers by next year.

add to my collection?" asks Agustin Areaga.

We teach and study English for the same reasons.

We study English for its practical value. Skills acquired in reading and writing are basic to most other subjects studied in school and college and are useful, if not vital, in later life.

But English is not only a group of skills which underlie other subjects; it also has a subject matter of its own. That subject matter is the cultural-heritage, in literary form, of the English-speaking people. (Our cultural) heritage is very broad: it is religious, technological, political, sociological, and artistic. Probably the part of it that is broadest in scope and most readily available to everyone who has acquired a general education is the literary part.) The literary tradition represents what man has done; it records what man had dreamed and felt and though — not only in the past, but in the present also.

From literature we learn a great deal about people and things which cannot be learned in other ways. Our vicarious experience teaches us something of our identity as an individual and the ties that bind us to the rest of mankind. Thus the second reason for teaching, as well as studying English, is its civilizing value.

More than any other subject, English offers the possibility of self-education and development outside the classroom and beyond the years of formal schooling. Thus, the best reason for studying or teaching English is because of "the love of it".

A minimum of four years of French, Spanish and German is available to Washington students. Classes provide opportunities to practice the language as well as to learn about the culture of the peoples who use the language in their country. Advanced placement work is provided for interested students.

In January the "Linguist Team Clinic" from the Defence Language Institute in Monterey came to Washington to speak to all the languages classes throughout the day. In May all language students are invited to travel to Monterey to view the facilities and observe classes in progress.

Anew district-wide activity was organized this year. In March the Fremont Fun Fair, a multilingual, multicultural event, sponsored by the district's foreign language teachers, took place at American High School Students from all high schools and junior high schools in Fremont participated in games, contests, cultural activities and food booths. It is hoped that this will become an annual event.

MATH

Math Department Excels

All students who graduate from Washington High meet the state requirement in mathematics by completing two years of course work. The Mathematics Department provides a variety of courses which will meet the state requirements and cover a broad range of students needs. Course work ranges from consumer oriented mathematics for the general educated student to calculus for the most able college prep students.

In addition to the regular math classes, the math department sponsored two math contests. These contests provided interest and challenge to over 100 students during the year. The California Mathematics League (CAML) contest series consisted of six exams which were given approximately once a month starting in November. A list of scores were maintained, and in the Spring several awards were made. The other contest, The American High School Mathematics Examination (AHSME), was a contest sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America. The AHSME contest is given annually on the first Tuesday in March. Approximately 6000 high schools across the country participate.

The Washington High Mathematics Department organized our own annual Geometric Construction Contest in the spring. This was the fourth year the contest was conducted. In some years more than 100 entries are received, and they are divided into two categories: Modern drawings and traditional drawings. After they were judged, prizes were awarded in each category.

In the last month of the school year, the calculus students took the Advanced Placement Examination to receive college credit for calculus. Shortly afterward, approximately 120 Algebra and Geometry students who exhibited high performance during the year took the Golden State Examination for statewide recognition.

The year has brought change with the retirement of Mr. Bettencourt at the end of last year. Mrs. Morse has returned from her sabbatical and veteran department members Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Lightfoot, and Mr. Brumbaugh are maintaining their interesting courses and high standards. Mr. Kelly is finding World History a stimulating challenge while Mr. Wallach divides his time between English and Social Science honors. We also have been fortunate to have Mr. Mangigi and Mr. Boggs with us again for part of the day.

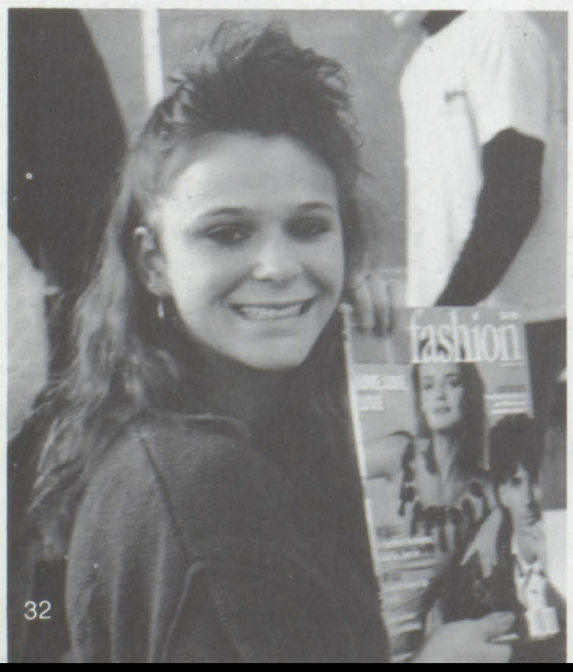
Electives: The Search For Unknown Talent . . .

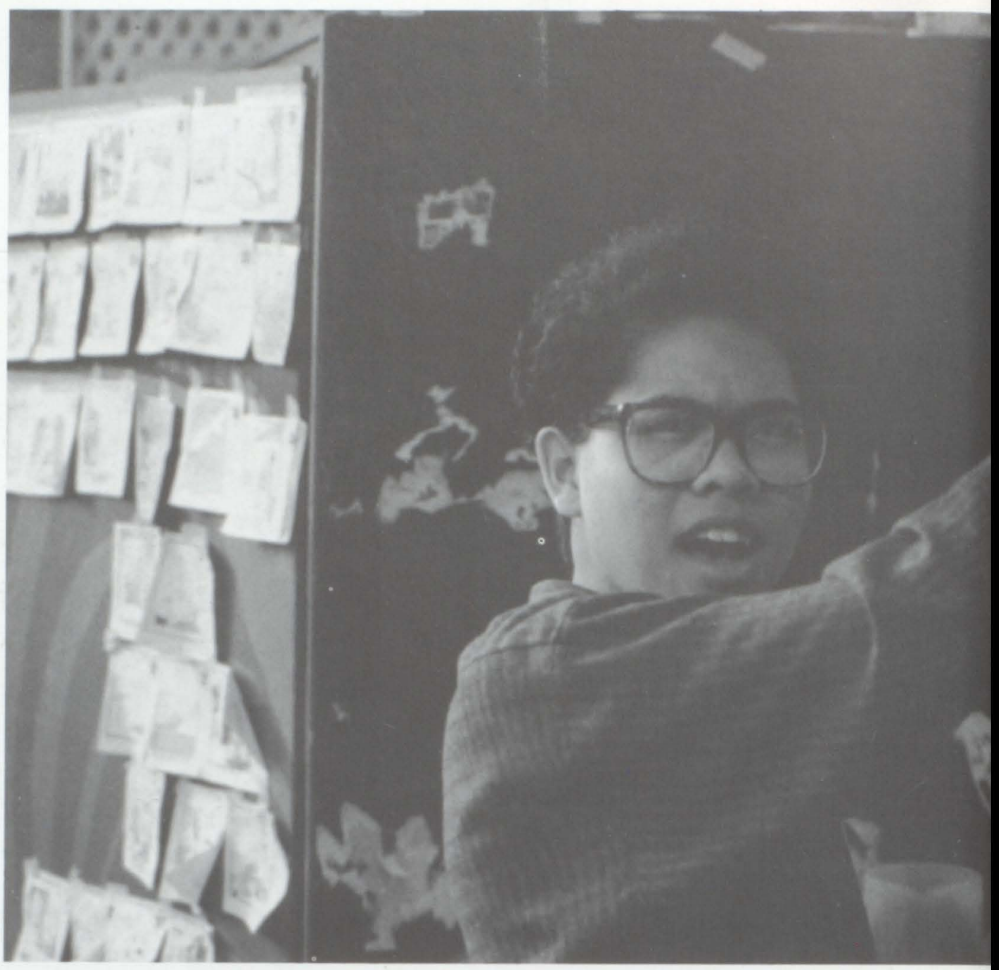
Ever wonder how to develop pictures? Paint a tempera? Design a house? Repair a car?

Here at Washington, you can learn all of these skills and more . . . in the electives department. Electives prepare students for special tasks and those enrolled in these classes are sure to get off to an excellent start in the real world. It allows students to express their creative talents and put their ideas into works of art.

Electives offered at WHS range from cooking and drama, to art & design and photo, and even yearbook and journalism. We even offer wood/metal/auto shops and a popular choice, P.E. Somebody has to know how to cook, not to mention repair things. Electives aren't as easy as they sound . . . there's homework too. Remember it's part of a student's academic schedule. Who knows how many talented young adults are still undiscovered within elective classes at WHS.

"See! I told you!!! Paulina Porizkova and I look a lot alike!" says Crysta Cripe.





"Wait! Don't take our picture yet, let us get into our perfect badminton form!' (these guys can be so tacky says Denise Karicher).

"Hold on tight Travis! If you drop it, I'll kill you!" says Tom Trischetti in Mr. Wheeler's 4th period auto class.

Keeping Physically Fit

Washington High School's P.E. department has grown and reached new horizons in the past couple of years. The number of different activities have reached an all time high. Choices include, folkdancing to archery, badminton, tennis, fleetball, swimming, softball, basketball, and more! Students are able to enter the class of their choice every quarter. Every 6 weeks, milling occurs which means students change activities and teachers. There are 4 or 5 combinations of activities you can request (Seniors having first priority).

Physical Education is required to be taken for two years, yet many students choose P.E. as a non required elective. Our P.E. department is growing with the help of our dedicated teachers. As you can see their hard work is paying off.

Dave McElvain takes time from shop class to pose for the camera. He is busy working on the power grinder.

Woodwork. Neil Mollat and Dave McElvain mark their projects in Woodshop. In this class students make many handy objects.

Working in the industrial arts classes give students a chance to explore the fields of auto, wood, metal, drafting, electronics and home maintenance. It teaches the student to work with his hands and tools.

The first year of any shop class is aimed at teaching the student safety rules, use of hand and electric tools, and the basic thought behind that field. The students are then able to become more advanced in that field if he/she chooses to the following year.

YEARBOOK

Jill Kazares, Becky Sprague: Co-Editors

Many students have the impression that yearbook is a kick-back fun class. It may be fun, but also a lot of hard work. Every time deadlines come along, so do the stressful times for our editors. The scramble goes on for pictures, interviews are taken, and typing and artwork must be completed. A deadline day is one of chaos and panic. Inevitably everyone will need the croppers (yet we only have a few). Copy sheets are always a scarcity.

The two people who have to go through the most stress are our editors. They have to be the most sought after people (at least during fifth period). Always willing to answer questions, give advice on a layout, and check over the completed pages, our editors are sometimes worn out. THe yearbook is basically their responsibility, and they care for it like a baby. If anything should go wrong, the editors are sure to hear about it. Mr. Brower, our advisor, occasionally steps in to help out, but he generally let's us do our job as we see best.

Through all our hard work and stressful moments, came our biggest reward . . . this edition of the 1988-1989 Washingtonian! I hope you enjoy this now and for many years to come.

JOURNALISM

Now well into our second computerized year for The Hatchet, it has constantly improved, and is still improving. Although we still stay well into the night on Wednesdays "pasting-up", the paper has a more professional, cleancut look. Upon moving to our new, bigger location inside room 81, we have acquired a computer room, dark room, and personal offices. Midway through the year we also received a second computer.

We've covered issues ranging from CAP testing to whether or not we should have a stage in Memorial Grove. Stories have been written on Dennis Eckersley, star of the Oakland Athletics and former Washington High School student, to our Varsity football team coming in first place and going to NCS.

Our goal this year was to create a paper which would interest the student body as well as produce quality writing, and with our continual knowledge of Pagemaker, the computer program, we have succeeded.

DRAMA

Work Or FUN?

Standing on stage, alone! Heart thumping, head beating. "Gotta think, what's my next line?!" There is nothing like standing on stage, pretending to be someone else. In Mr. Burkhart's drama classes, you get a glimpse of how difficult theater can be. In drama classes, the students do a variety of things including practicing scenes, inventing radio shows, memorizing monologues, doing improvisation scenes and learning about the history of drama. It is a learning experience in body movement, articulation and voice projection that can be taught in very few places. In stagecraft class, students build the sets that are used in the drama productions throughout the year. Working in drama is both a fun and rewarding experience because it teaches you to work in with other people while you make new friends.

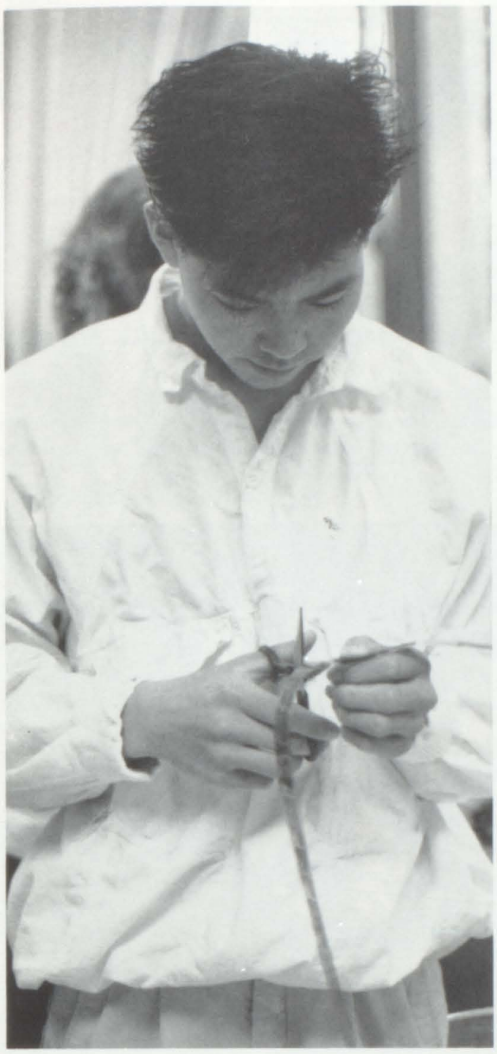
PHOTOGRAPHY



"I wonder how much Playboy will pay me for this picture," thinks Darin Tsujimoto.

"You mean I'm supposed to take the lens cap off?" asks Peter Zlatnik of Mr. Ficken.

Photography is a class for those with an "artistic vision". Many people are unable to project their vision onto a piece of paper. For those people, photography gives another alternative. With a single click of a button, an entire spectrum of sights, thoughts and emotions is captured. It gives a method of expression that I never had before and a new method to those who have an artistic gift.

We do more than just take and print pictures in Mr. Ficken's photography classes. We've done everything from telling a story through pictures to using a coffee can as a camera! We're always trying new ideas: some that work and some that don't.

There's no question that I had more fun in photography than any of my other high school classes, and I'm hoping that I can continue taking it in college. It's a great hobby and for those who really love it, a great career.

CLUBS

The Close Up club got Congressman Don Edwards to pose for a picture with them while in Washington D.C. This club takes an annual trip to our nations capital. They had many fund raisers to help them finance this trip.

Clubs, Clubs, Clubs

There are many different clubs here at Washington High School. These clubs range from the Ski Club and Adventure Game Club to the Spanish and German Clubs. Some other popular clubs are the International Club and the Tragos Comos Club. The California Scholarship Federation, CSF, is probably the most popular club here at Washington High with the Ski Club coming in a close second. Students with many different interests can find a club to satisfy them. Parents can also be found in some of these clubs. In fact, the parents have their own clubs. The Boosrer Club is parents supporting athletics to name just one. Getting involved in a school club is a good way to meet new people and make new friends.

Games anyone? The Adventure Game Club is a fairly new club here at Washington High School. These boys are spending their lunch period playing their Adventure games.

Seniors: (Bottom Row) Brian Yee(Sec), Greg Leonard(Treas), Jim Ferea(Pres), Sandra Kim(V.P.); (2nd row) Hovey Liao, Johnson Liu, Sophos Chu, Matt Todd, (3rd row) Eric Nilson, Ann Lee, Robby Arias, Christy Chang, Carlo Teano, Deepali Mohindra, Tiffany Dewitt, Robb Dunn, May-Tyan Wong, Lisa Lee, Toby Shimizu, Ji Soo Kim; (4th row) Aaron Williams, Aaron Beck, Tina Lester, Jimmy Chu, Jeff Kidd, Chris Watt, Katia Gousset, Tina Varkey, Mary Kuo, Beth Marshall, Sara Ghaith

CSF

The California Scholastic Federation isn't a bunch of bookworms and nerds as many people may think. CSF is a group of hard-working, dedicated students to whom good grades are important. You must qualify for CSF by earning at least a "B" average (usually better) and honors courses count as extra credit. The members of CSF don't spend all that time studying, however, every Christmas they sponsor the canned food drive to feed Fremont's needy. In the spring, members reward themselves with various fieldtrips, often to Golden Gate Park or U.C. Santa Cruz. Members also have an extra edge, they can use their membership cards at their discretion and with teacher permission, to leave class for extra studying time in the library.

TRAGOS COMOS

Tragos Comos is a club set up to provide a way for students to experience theater, who otherwise would not have the opportunity. This year we hoped to take field trips to San Francisco and Berkeley, along with attending plays at other high schools in the area.

We have a lot of fun in Tragos Comos (which in Latin, means Tragedy Comedy). The people you meet while in the plays become your friends for life. Everybody shares a common interest in theater and that results in a special closeness shared by all.

Mr. Woodward (Advisor)

The clattering of dice tossed across tables and the lamenting of unfortunate adventurers is the first thing one hears when they enter room 21 at lunch, where the Washington High Adventure Game Club meets daily. They number between fifteen and twenty and usually play a variety of swashbuckling games in small groups of about five. Some play the classic medieval adventure game, Dungeons and Dragons, while others stage the road-warrior like game Car Wars where anything goes. And still others pit huge space-aged robots, called 'Mecs', that are as tall as buildings, against each other. All this and more, this club hopes to do for years to come.

PEP CLUB

Bottom: Simret Negash (Treasurer), Temara Issac (Vice President), Panya Yarber (President), Emily Thomas (Secretary).

Mr. Kelly (Advisor)

The Pep Club was started to put more spirit into the Husky fans at various sporting events throughout the year. To accomplish this the club wears school colors to the games, and sometime pass out orange and black balloons to the crowd. Though this year, the club members were mostly freshman, it is open to anyone that wants to show their pride in Washington and cheer the home team on.

The purpose of the Boosters club is to develop a closer relationship and better understanding between the athlete, parents, coaching staff and Washington High School administrators, WHS Boosters provides adult assistant for athletic events (i.e. when not provided by WHS and required by individual circumstances). They conduct various fund-raising projects as is needed to support the organization. Some activities are the snack bar, general meetings, membership drive, "Breakfast of Champions", spaghetti dinner/auction, flea market, and the monthly newsletter.

Boosters have provided us money for the resurfacing of the tennis courts, new bleachers for football, soccer, tennis, and softball. For baseball dugouts, scoreboard in the South Gym, and money for many other projects.

HALF CENTURY

The PTA (PARENTS-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION) unit at Washington High School was chartered in 1940. In February, 1973, the Student Council voted to support the PTA unit; and in 1974 we became PTSA (the "S" for Students).

As we complete our first half century as a PTA/PTSA unit, the Washington High School PTSA is continuing to support and speak on behalf of all children and youth in school, in the community, and before governmental agencies and other organizations that make decisions affecting students in the schools. We promote parent and public involvement in schools and communities. Monies raised through donut sales and other activities this year will be returned to the students in the form of scholarships.

El Club De Espanol

The Spanish club, under the leadership of advanced Spanish teacher Mrs. Mitchell, is like other clubs, open to anyone wishing to experience the excitement of the Spanish culture. Club fundraisers help raise money which the club uses to take field trips which include visits to Spanish restaurants and dance festivals. Spanish class members are also invited to participate in the outings the club takes, which in turn may peak class members interest in what the club does. This is only the fourth year for the rejuvenated Spanish club which was absent from the club scene for a few years due to a lack of interest. Membership this year is much larger than expected, and larger than expected.

Le Club De Francais

French Club is a group of students involved in exploring French culture. The club was established in the '87-'88 school year by Terry Nguy. The cabinet consists of a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. Fund raisers at various times of the school year form the club's budget. The intent of the club is to reach the French exper experience- this may include French feasts, field trips, or movies. Membership is not limited to just students who have taken French. It is open to anyone wishing to learn more about the culture.

What's the most unique, exciting, and exhilarating club at Washington High School? The Ski Club of course! This year it came back to fulfill our frosty needs that were held back since 1985 when the ski club last existed. It's bigger and better than before with plans for trips every month to local ski resorts and even a spring trip to Utah for the best snow on earth. The Ski Club builds its members skills and performance in skiing while enhancing everyones character, socialization, and range of interests. Much of this goes unnoticed and is meaningless until one can gracefully glide down a beautiful north face, slither through the uniform moguls, or slalom between the white laced pine trees with the sweet, clean air breezing past your face. The feeling is unbelievable and so is the club.

CLOSE UP

The Close Up trip to Washington, D.C., combines a look at our nation's capital today with the beginnings of our democratic system in the colonial capital of Williamsburg, Virginia. Students explore the similarities and differences between the capitals of the two eras.

Along with students from others states, 9 WHS students spent a unique and fascinating week in Washington, D.C., studying our government and the political process and learning to understand each person's role in that process. The week included many workshops and seminars with government officials and advisors, meetings with Senator Alan Cranston and Congressman Don Edwards, tours of the monuments, museums, and memorials, a dinner/theater trip to Maryland to see "Evita", and an overnight jaunt to colonial Williamsburg, Virginia. The journey was completed with a day-long snowfall on our last day in DC.

WHAT A FINE

For this production there were two separate casts. Not pictured here are the members of the first cast or "A Team": Mavourneen Rediger, Dyana Mason, Dawn Dutra, Mike Fauver, Bridget Alexander, Mark Flippen, Nicole Wilson, & Peter Spellman.

"In this box are the only remains of Alaster Loyd his ears . . . HIS EARS!" (From left to right) Samantha Duthler, Nicole Wilson, Kris Cambra, Dayna Cerruti, Liz Webb, Christine Carr, and Ari Filardo.

"WOW! What a tremendous painter!" Johann Zamora poses with his paint brush.

The "B Team" and Techies: (top) Vicki Small, Aaron Williams, Dayna Cerruti, Liz Webb, Kris Cambra, Christine Carr, Burke Saunders, Samantha Duthler, Nicole Wilson, Brian Abascal, Ari Filardo, Grace Melanio, (2nd) Lisa Bethany, Nabil Johnson.

"There's something lurking behind those curtains!" Dayna Cerruti and Samantha Duthler stand trembling as the monster rages from behind the mysterious door.

"Nobody make a move!" threatens Ari Filardo as he begins to remove the chains from the door. Dayna Cerruti sits crying for help as (clockwise) Christine Carr, Nicole Wilson, Samantha Duthler, Kris Cambra, And Liz Webb sit motionless.

MONSTER YOU ARE

A Fine Monster You Are! by Monk Ferris was a simplistic play with a very predictable plot. The story was about an aging lady, Emily Holbrook, who wanted to hire a young typist Suzette Larsen to type all of her memoirs. The play included a seance and a guardian troll played by the towering Peter Spellman, in the cellar of the house who was there to protect a 17 pound diamond. The play ended with a lot of theatrical silliness that was overplayed by the actors. Despite some over-acting the actors were superb overall. The great acting was led by Mavourneen Rediger who played the lead character Emily Holbrook. Rediger masterfully sustained a difficult dialect throughout the play. Other good actresses included Nicole Wilson who played the psychologist Kyla Calladine and Bridget Alexander.

Murder On The Re-Run

"Maybe HE can give us the answer," says Edwina to Valerie, Hugh, & Justin, who are all pondering jane's death.

A ghostly Gina Beagles as Jane, who is desperately trying to solve the mystery surrounding her own death.

Murder On The Rerun

"Murder on the Rerun", is a mystery set in a ski lodge in Vermont owned by a man named Stanzio Garelli. The play opens with a look back to a night 3 years ago when a group of 6 friends of Stanzio Garelli had gathered to spend the weekend at his lodge. On this particular night, a terrible "accident" occurred; Jane Ackerly was killed following a fall down a flight of stairs. Suddenly a tiny angel (Kitty), appears and we are back to present day. Kitty explains to us that it is her job to solve the mystery of Jane's death, (Jane believes she was pushed down the stairs) for then she can earn her 'wings'.

The entire group is reunited once again in the lodge and it 3 years following Jane's death. Jane and Kitty push the guests (by appearing as ghosts) using many wacky techniques (including a ouija board) trying to get someone to admit foul play. In the end, Hugh Lawton, Jane's husband ends up dead in the study. After much probing and finger pointing, and even a celestial appearance by the ghosts of Jane and Hugh, Hugh admits to pushing Jane down the stairs in order to carry on his affair with Betsy Randolph. Betsy admits to Hugh's murder claiming she wanted the royalties Hugh was to receive from the screenplay he had just produced. Every member of the group resolves to keep their mouths shut in order to protect their friends.

"Yes . . . well, uh . . ." stammers Hugh when questioned about his relationship with Jane.

Kitty to the rescue! "if only I can solve the mystery of Jane's death," cries Kitty, "Then I can earn my wings."

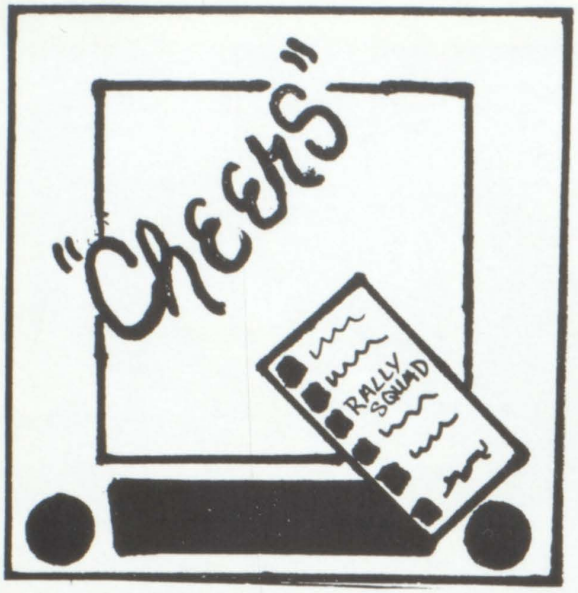
ACTORS AND ACTRESSES OF CAST A: Sara Ghaith as Edwina Dunbar, Brian Abascal as Justin Wills, Jim Ferea as Hugh Lawton, Stephanie Mattos as Kitty, Dyana Mason as Jane Ackerly, Ami Windes as Betsy Randolph, and Beth Marshall as Valerie Vickers.

"Are you accusing ME of killing Jane?" asks Valerie, trying to clear her own name.

Jane and Hugh, seen here as ghosts, prepare to return from the dead to catch their killers red handed.

"I'm going inside, I want to know what's going on!" exclaims the irrepressible Valerie as Edwina and Betsy try to stop her.

"What about you?" asks Brian Abascal, "Who do you think murdered Jane?"



Rah! Rah!

The 1988-89 Cheer squad: led by Varsity head Gina Nieves, and Junior Varsity head Tina Enriquez: attended the National Cheerleading Association/CADA camp at Stanford University for four days last summer. Even with three squad members absent from the camp, they managed to bring home all Superior ribbons for their evaluations along with the Spirit Stick.

Although they never had the chance to compete together, they did work very well with one another. The majority of the squad (seven, to be exact!) had had experience in cheerleading previous to this year- they had been involved either in cheerleading in the Fremont Football League or Junior High squads, along with previous years here at Washington. The other two squad members were completely new to cheering, but they worked hard and strived to do their best.

Even though Sophomore Alicia Rodriguez enjoys cheerleading, she feels that the size of the squads needs to be enlarged. "The large size of the squads from other schools dominates even our small squads. Larger squads are just more effective-especially at competitions." Junior cheer member, Trayce Hentrich, says she feels the same way. "Parents and other people in our crowds have told us that we need more cheerleaders," states Trayce.

Even though it was a small squad this year, they all expressed that they had a fun time at football and basketball games.

– Tina Enriquez

 The Cheer squad would like to take this opportunity to say CONGRATULATIONS to fellow squad member Crysta Cripe-NO unjuries this year!*

Also, they would like to say THANK YOU to Stephanie Vollmer-a great Rally Squad leader, and Mr. Koski-a great advisor (we hope you enjoyed your first year- don't forget the initiation food at camp!) We love you both!

CHEERLEADERS

G-O, Let me hear you say "GO"! The 1988-1989 rally squad leads the Huskies in a popular cheer during a rally at lunch. Spirit leader, Senior Songgirl, Stephanie Vollmer hosted many great rallies for the Huskies this school year.

The cheerleaders have a lot of difficulty leading this rowdy crowd of Huskies but find the challenge exciting.

SONGGIRLS

Hot shots- The WHS Songgirls take a walk to the local Dallas Burger King. The girls had just finished their performance in the Dallas Convention Center when they realized how hungry they were. The city of Dallas, Texas shows in the background as this group poses for the camera.

Dallas 88!

This years songgirl squad had an extremely exciting year. They came away from NCA summer camp with 2 spirit sticks and 2 trophies. They also won the chance to compete in Dallas, Texas at nationals. They won this honor by being named as the all around superior squad at camp.

The songgirls, Gia, Steph, Jen, Terry, Carrie, Kerry, Deanna, Jill, Elaine and Vanessa, practiced many, many hours for their trip to Dallas. They also did a lot of fundraising. They had carwashes, pizza sales, and poster sales. They earned $2000 of the $8000 needed to take the trip.

The plane ride to Dallas was quite an experience since some of the girls had never been on a plane before. And others, Gia, got motion sickness! When the girls and Mr. Koski (nick-named "Big Bird") arrived at the airport in Dallas, they waited there for about 2 hours. When they finally arrived at their hotel, everyone was starved. The girls got a little practice time that night before they went to bed.

The next day, the girls went to the competition. They performed second to last out of 31 squads. Feeling that they had performed really well, the results were a little disappointing. The top ten squads made it into the finals. WHS finished 11th. The girls then found out that they were penalized 25 points for being 12 seconds short of the pompon requirements. If they had been more aware of the rules, they would have finished in 2nd place, qualifying them for the finals.

The girls flew home a little disappointed, but they felt that they did their best. Over all, the girls learned a great deal from this experience.

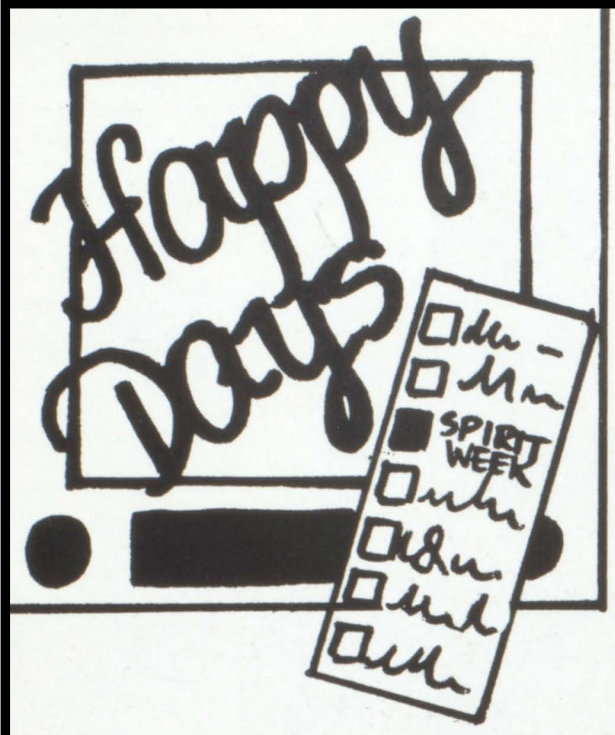
The Face Behind The Mask

Bridget Elola is the hidden face behing "Hawk" the Husky. Bridget's job is to evoke spirit from her fellow students. She comments, "It's only hard when the crowd isn't excited. That is when I have to come up with an outstanding idea. Sometimes all it takes is playing with a little kid or making fun of the cheerleaders." Hank is temporarilly out of order in the rain and at basketball. "It gets too stuffy," says Bridget.

The songgirls perform their Dallas routine at halftime of the Varsity football game. These girls practiced long and hard on this routine so that it would be perfect.

Well, if Bridget is not inside "Hank" then who is? This years school mascot, Bridget Elola, must have conned someone into posing as Hank for the picture so that we could see the face behind the mask.



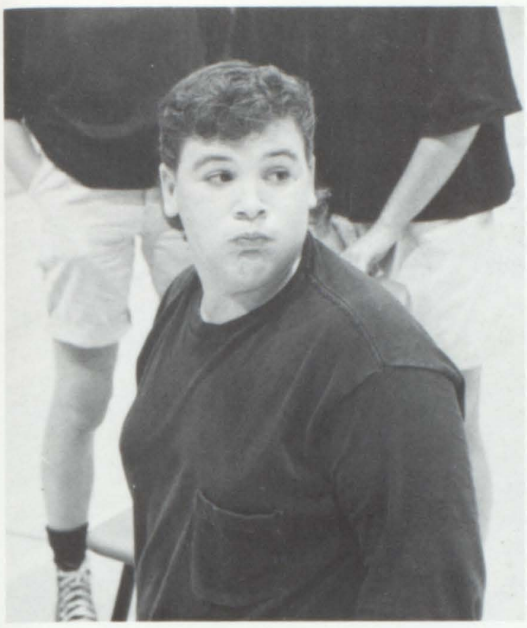
Those spirited seniors! Agnes Helm and Rashell Justice cheer on their senior classmates at the ASB rally which kicked off spirit week.

HUSKY spirit

Spirit Week: A Time To Come Together

Spirit Week is probably the second most popular week at WHS next to the last week of school. Not only is it a great release, it gives every member of the student body a chance to get involved. You can be the star of your class' skit if you're the extreme extrovert, or a supporting player for those who still love the spotlight. Those who want to have their say without being seen can help write the skit, produce awesome posters to cover the gym, or build the backdrops and props. The fun of producing a class skit comes when the skit goes off without a hitch (which rarely happens). A winning skit consists of a simple, easy to follow plot, modern music, and a few inside jokes known only to Huskies. Crowd involvement is a big plus. Often each class is called upon to outcheer another, which adds fun to the competition. The idea of the skit is often to depict our mascot, Hank the Husky, or your own class as the hero of the day. The plot should involve bringing the entire school together to defeat evil, the opposing school, in our case Mission San Jose. This year the Senior class came out on top, as did our awesome football team who defeated the hapless Warriors 47-7!

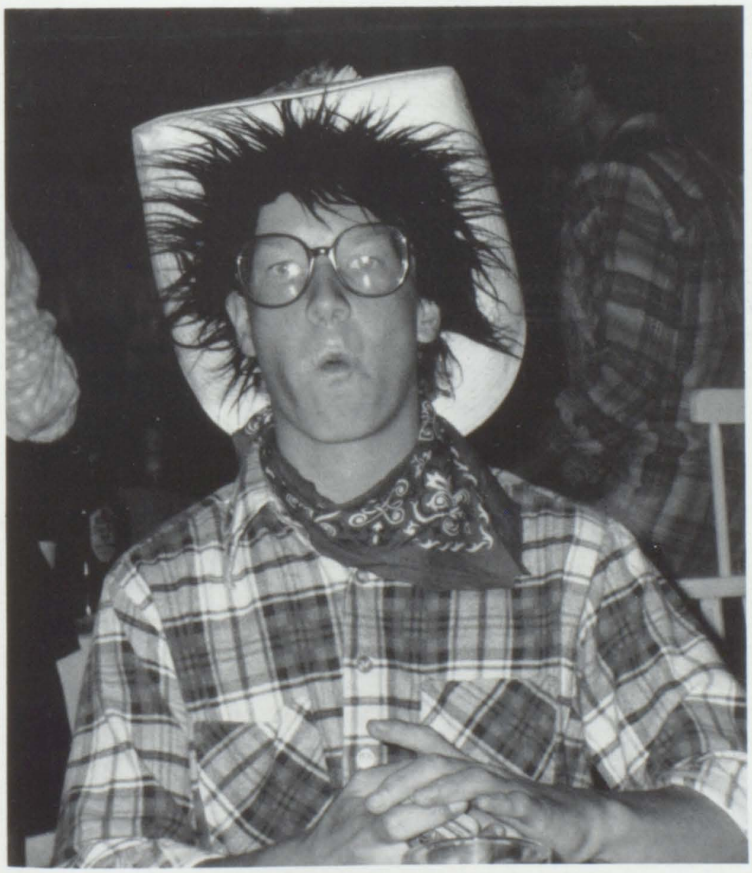
Flower power! Those Junior hippies are taking over the campus. Leader Joe Hedgecock takes Maya Burghardt, Jennifer Radcliffe, Anna Jeno, Gia Solari, Melissa Aldama, and Dennis Druckhammer on a tour of the campus leading chants.



Hold it in! Freshman Jason Horn eyes his competition and keeps his mouth full of Coke and Alka-Seltzer as each class attempts to win the games sponsored by the ASB at the all school rally, the first day of Spirit Week.

Smile pretty! Wearing their Sunday best, Seniors Mike Stinchfield and Brian Maxwell show off in Mrs. Koppel's third period English class.

IS SKY HIGH!



Howdy Tex! This big wheeler dealer, Junior Lance Soderman, prepares for a mean card game during the Junior's wildly western skit.

Geez, what a slob! Joel Means, a spirited Junior, is obviously confused. The Junior's slob day was very successful, underwear was worn on the outside, and dirty clothes were seen strewn every which way.

CLASS of ninety-two

"The skits were great," exclaims Kathy Arreaga as Christina Sandoval, Angela Burns, Leslie Wilkerson, and Julie Porter look on.

FRESHMEN THIS IS

"Uuuuugh!! I can't get this sword out of this stone," says Mike McComber. Looking on is Mark DeOliveira and David Pruit.

"Bang bang you're dead, fifty bullets in your head!" says a mean and vicious Jason Horn.

"Here we are! How can you miss us?" Pictured are Bi Nah, Mervat Ghaith, Izetta Fang, Jesnise Groves, Christina Sandoval, Julie Porter, and Jennifer Fritz.

ONLY THE BEGINNING

The real McCoy: Freshman class president, David McCoy relaxes after the Junior skit. "This means we're next!"

Let's Go Freshmen!

The Freshman skit began with a rally at Washington that was abruptly interrupted by the obnoxious Mission Warriors, Their goal was to steal Hank the Husky. Defenseless Huskies were shot at by the Warriors "spirit sucking gun". This drained the crowd of all it's spirit. Only four students were able to escape; a Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and a FRESHMAN. The four went off through the jungle known as the Spirit Vine, looking for the sword of spirit. This would enable them to fight off the evil Warriors. After much searching, the four came upon the spirit sword in the stone. The Senior attempted to remove the sword and failed. Then the Junior, but he too could not. The sophomore thought he had it, yet no avail. Finally the Freshman stepped up and after a little prying, the sword was tugged loose. The Freshman could now save her school! The foursome ran back to the gym at Washington and returned all spirit to its students. The Freshman celebrated their victory over evil by forming a human grapevine around the gym. Hank was returned, and the Huskies lived happily ever after.

CLASS of NINETY ONE

The evil Mission Warrior in disguise as Hank's dear old grandma. The Warrior's identity was discovered, and he was chased out of the forest by helpful lumberjacks.

"Welcome to my enchanted forest," said the magical wizard (otherwise known as Maria Cuellar.)

SOPHOMORES

Huummm baby! What a foxy nerd! Actually, it's bookworm Ken Miguel on the Sophomore's Nerd day.

"You look a little frazzled, girls!" Sonia Serrano and Norma Garcia relax after the success of the skit.

"I'm a nerd and proud of it!" Carolyn Pestano says on the Sophomore nerd dress up day. Nerd day was followed by Lumberjack day the day of the skit. Thursday brought out the gangster in the Tiny Tots, and Friday the togas. The sophomores had great participation by all.

ARE SENSATIONAL

The Crips or the Bloods? Which group do you think Diana Escabido and Blanca Angula represent on gangster day?

Little Red Riding Hank

The class of 91's second attempt at a Spirit Week title began with this year's skit, "Little Red Riding Hank". In this rendition, Hank had to traverse through the dark and desolate forest to get to Grandma's house. Hank's objective was to bring Grandma the 'spirit fruits' to cure her of her depression. His trip was not made easy. The big bad Mission Warriors planned to steal the spirit fruit by disguising one Warrior as Grandma and hiding in her cabin. Helpful woodcutters and local lumberjacks helped foil the Missionites plan by chasing him off into the forest. Hank then made it to Grandma's house, and after eating the Sophomores spirit fruit, Grandma regained her vitality.

Juniors

Wild Wild West

Being a Junior during spirit week is rough. Not only do juniors have to lead off the skits of the week, but they often fall just short of winning the "most spirited" title to the seniors. The class of 90 did a great job with their skit this year, producing a Good vs. Evil, Wild West spectacular. Green Bart, the notoriously evil Missionite, headed into husky territory hoping to steal the spirit stone and the most beautiful lady in the land, Bobby Sue Joe Cutlery Set Ann. The action continued as Black Bart confronted the Green One, and along with the help of fearless Hank, chased Green Bart out of town. The entertainment included dancing can can beauties, a sherriff's deputy leading the crowd in song, and a spotlight dancer featuring the ever popular song "Tequilla".

"It wasn't so much that we were trying to beat the seniors, but that we were coming together as a whole. — Angela Tam.

▲ . . . And they lived happily ever after. Hank, the hero of the junior skit, leads the helpless damsel in distress, Missy Mae Bobby Sue Joe Cutlery Set Ann off into the sunset. That's Jim Hasset starring as Hank and Stacy Adams as the damsel.

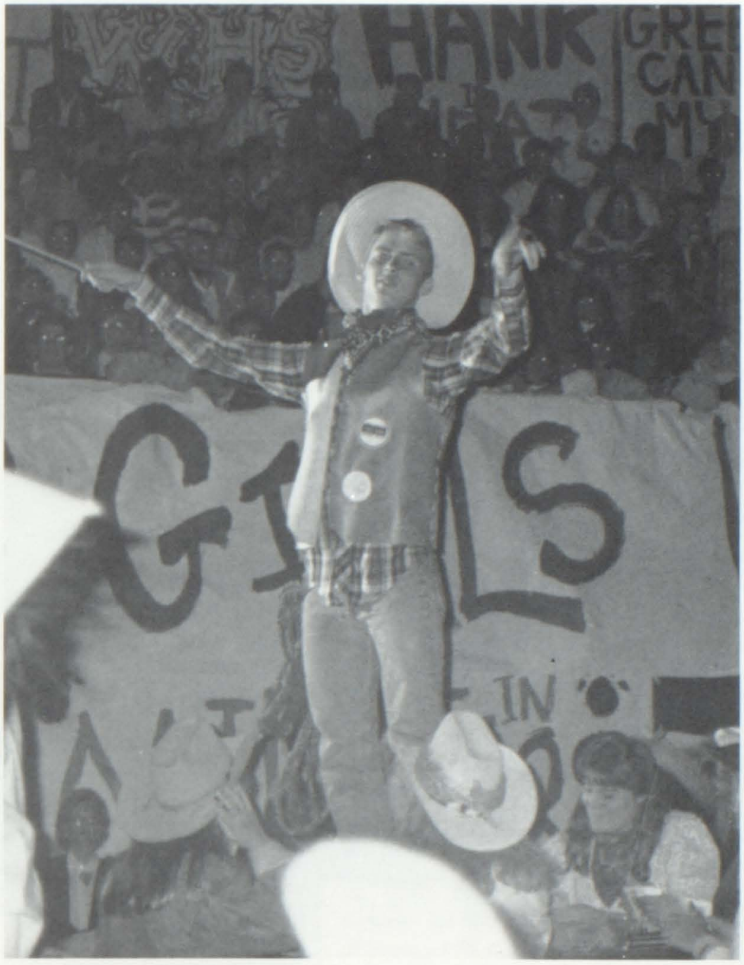
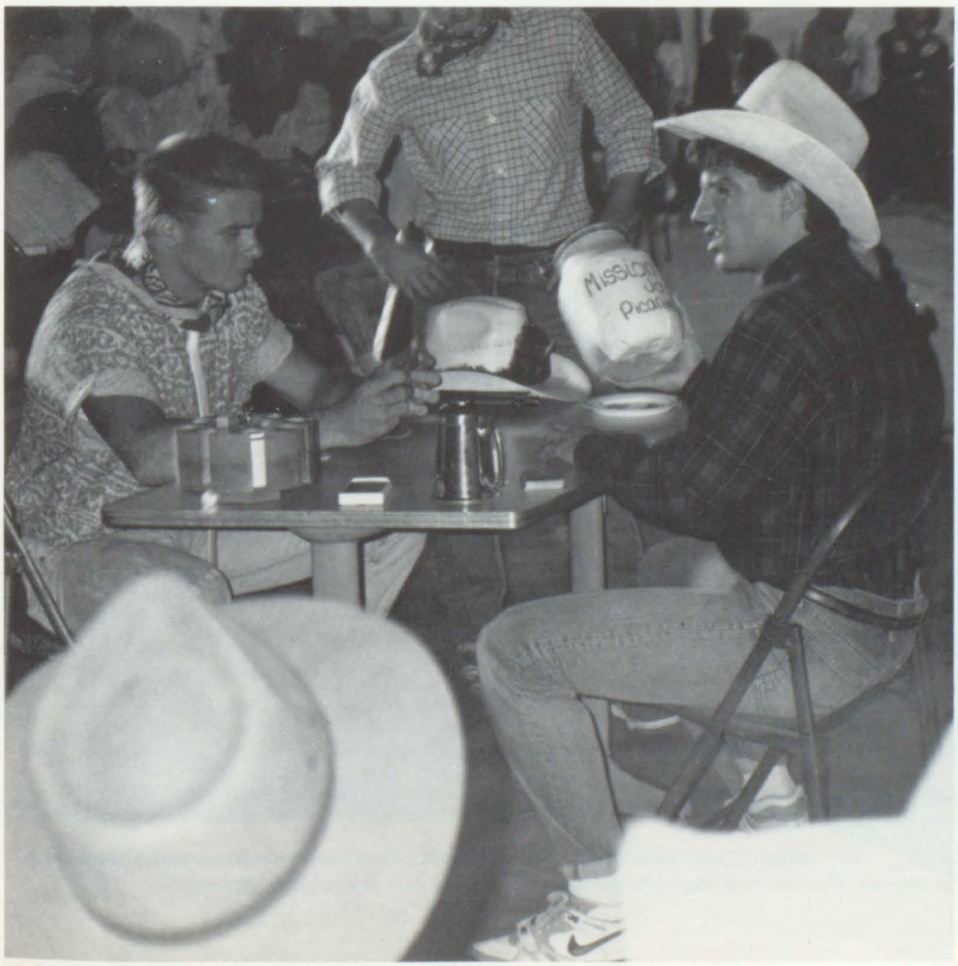
Junior Spirit Dazzles WHS

"Tequilla!" Joel Means in the spotlight dancing Pee Wee Herman style. Supported by the talented Can Can dancers, Joel was a big hit.



"Everybody now!" instructs Maestro Joe Hedgecock to his makeshift orchestra as the dancers prepare offstage to strut their stuff.



With a close second place finish under their belt, the Junior class, the class of 1990 can look forward to a terrific year ahead. Most of the fun of Spirit Week comes from involving the entire class in dress up days. Some of the most popular days of the past and present include Nerd day, Injury day, Toga day, and Flasher day. This year's Juniors participated in the school wide Unity day on Monday.

"This stuff's made in Mission San Jose!" exclaims Black Bart, Dave Aument, as he is slipped a jar of Mission San Jose Picante Sauce by the "bad guy", Green Bart, otherwise known as Ryan Chilten.

89 Shines Bright....

"SOS . . . S. Save our Spirit, Stephanie." Stephanie Keller portrayed the mermaid "Spirit" while leading the senior ocean in the spirit song.

"All hail, Hank, hero of the Huskies." Hank was called on to save the spirit of Washington. Tom Nishikawa did a great job playing Hank and rowing through the balloon-filled ocean.

HUSKIES of the Carrikan

Style '89

The class of 89 has been known for tis creativity in spirit week dress up days, and this year was no exception. After starting with the school wide unity day, the seniors moved on to sheer day where costumes ranged from Togas, to ghosts to straight jackets. On Wednesday the seniors made a run for the border with fiesta day. The class was unified wearing sombreros and singing "Villa Allegre". Thursday brought confusion at the bathrooms with opposite-sex day, displaying some of the most disgusting females anyone has ever seen. Then, finally, came the day of the skit, where seniors dressed in either their costume for the skit, as a swashbuckling pirate, or as a blue ocean wave. The creativity of all these days helped the seniors form on strong class.

"Argh . . . hey mates." Tony Anselmi, David Hollingshaus, and Dustin bearby prepare to conquer the Mission Warriors and their physiology class on the last day of Spirit Week.

Ferocious Warriors, Jerrod Teyshak, Gordon Ritchie, and Rod Greene are on the prowl to capture Washington's mermaid, Spirit.

Seniors Reach The Top!

In it's four years of participation in Spirit Week, the class of 89 has seen plenty of ups and downs. But, this year's first place with strong class spirit and participation, and with a skit that was more successful than anyone could have imagined, was the best year of all!

As the day of the skit came close, the same seemed to happen to the class of 89. The class came together to put on what some faculty members say was one of the best skits Washington high School has ever seen. The theme was, "Huskies of the Carribean". Fearless Hank was called upon to save our mermaid, named "Spirit", from the evil Mission Warriors. Hank's travels took him to five different islands; Logan/American, Moreau, Newark Memorial, Kennedy/Irvington and finally Mission San Jose, Where the whole school came together to help in the rescue.

The class of 89 worked very hard on the skit, some until late the night before. At five o'clock the next morning, fifty seniors met at Denny's to decorate cars and to do last minute touch-ups on the skit.

The hard work of the class paid off when the skit went smoothly and they received the Spirit Week trophy at the Homecoming Game. After four years of hard work and dedication, the class of 89 finally came out on top!

Ole! Fiesta Day brought out the muchacha in Hollee Stockton, April Probasco and Cindy Jamison.

"Yo, homeboy! Don't be dissin' me," says Mike Chae after his fresh beat rap in the Spirit Week skit.

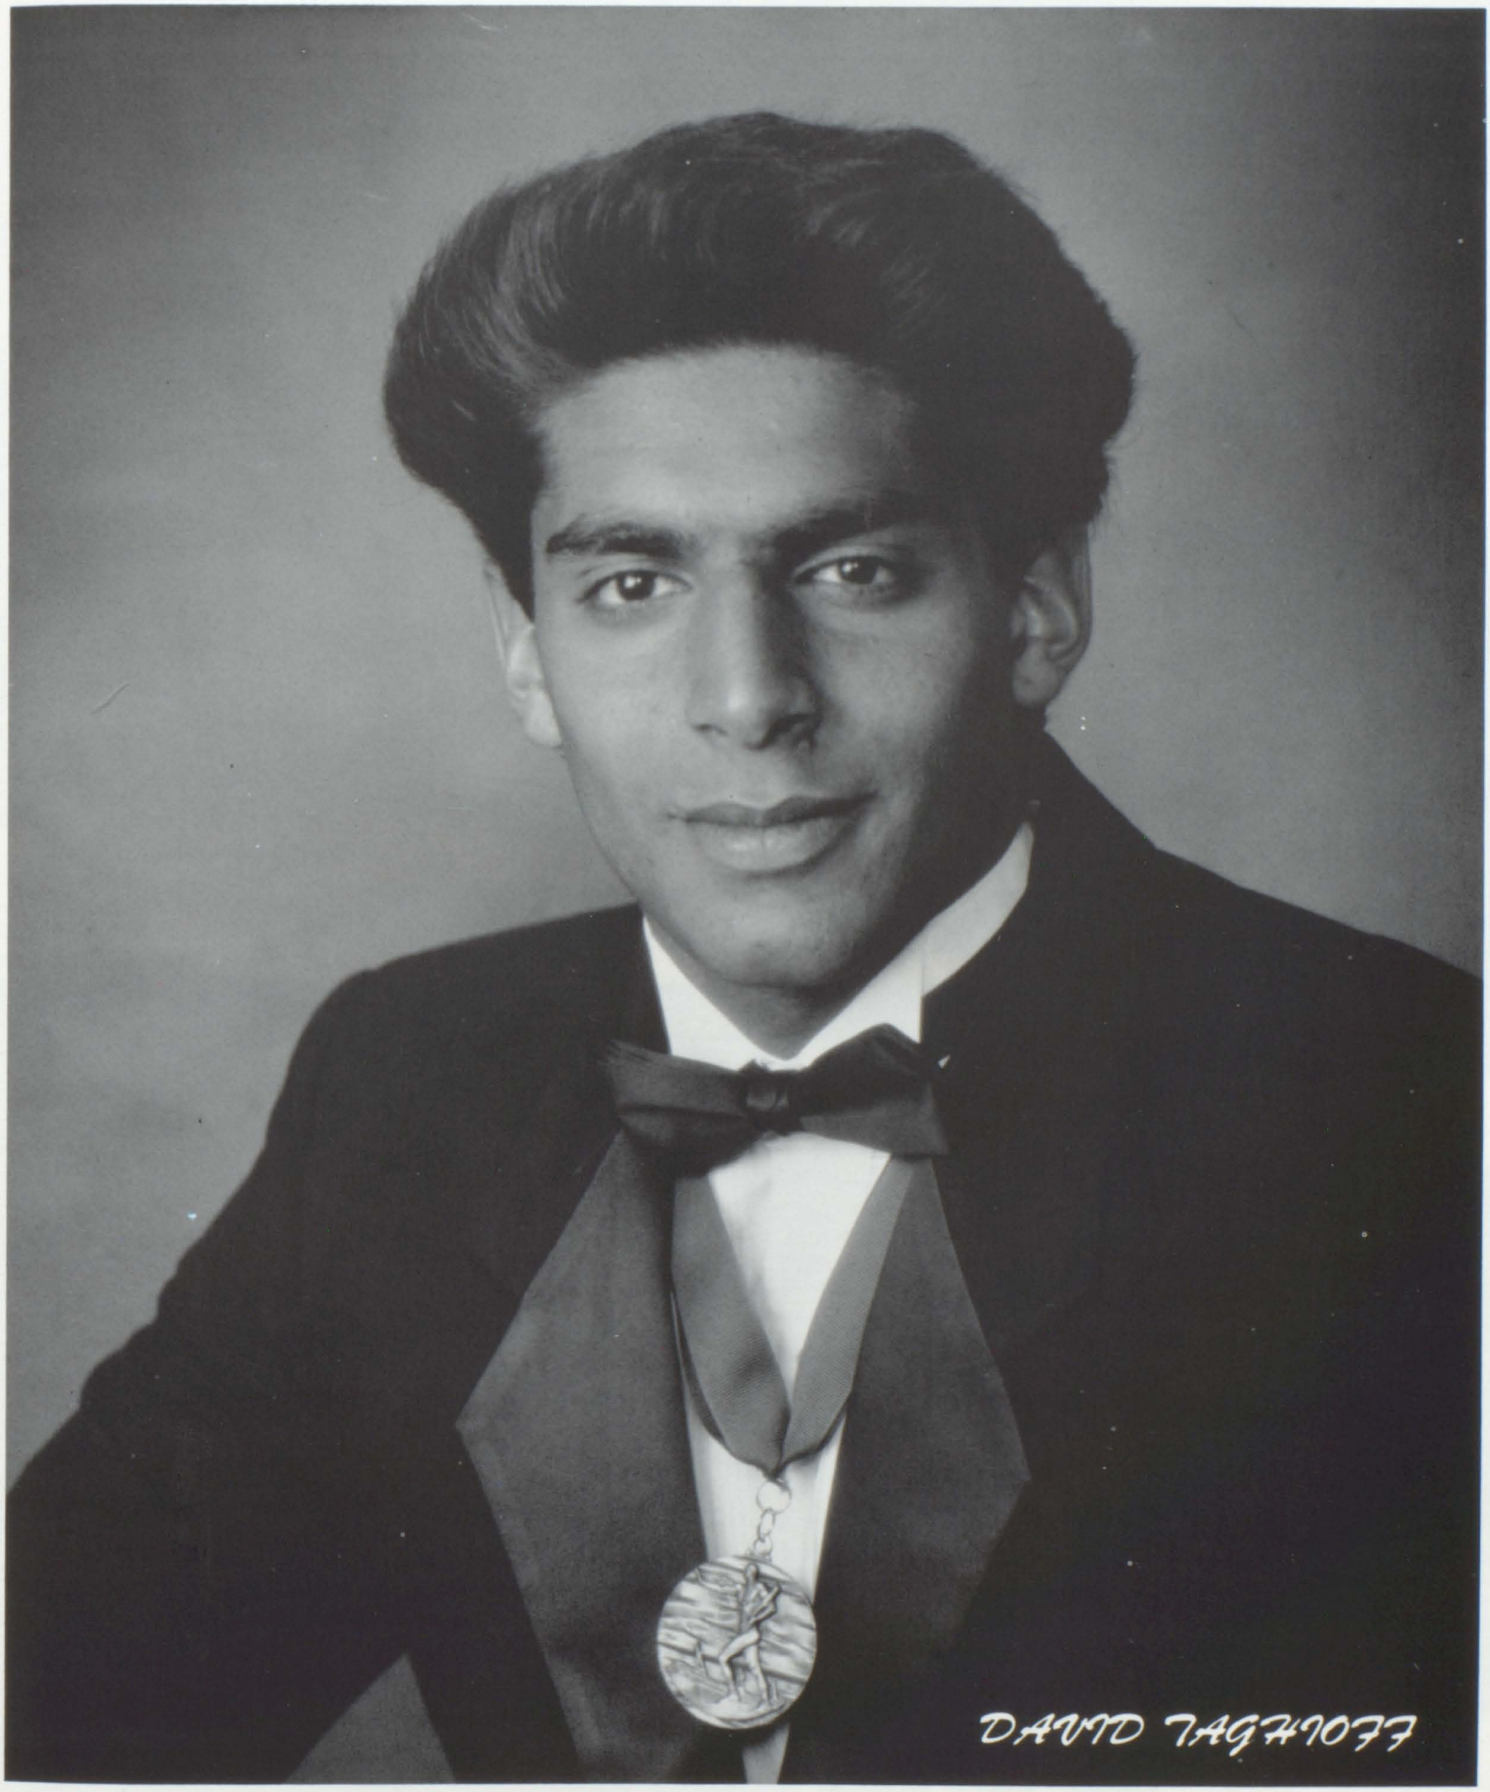
Mr. Husky 1988-1989



David has done a tremendous amount of work during his 4 years at Washington and is very deserving of the honor of Mr. Husky. David served on the representative assembly for 3 years and was also Sophomore class secretary. This year David had the task of ASB Vice President. These weren't his only accomplishments. He was a member of the Varsity Badminton and Water Polo teams and anchored the Airband competition for 2 years. David also found time to serve on the Judiciary board and as a D.J. as an appointed officer. David, with his ambition and friendly attitude, is the kind of Mr. Husky that really represents the spirit of WHS. Thanks Dave for all your hard work and dedication.

Queen Crowned

Being nominated for Homecoming Queen is a great honor. The Senior class voted for the ten nominees in their government and economic's classes. These ten girls are then escorted by the man of their choice in front of the entire student body at a lunch time rally. Next, voting is opened to the whole school to find the five finalists. Four of these finalists become the Homecoming Princesses and one becomes the Homecoming Queen. The winner is chosen by the Senior class. The nominees are usually extremely active students. They give a lot of their time to help the school and participate in school activities such as sports, clubs, and Student Council. The Homecoming Queen is crowded at the Homecoming Game by last year's Queen. The five finalists are escorted to the game by their fathers where they get front row seats. They sit in chairs on a stage on the track of TAK Stadium in their formals. This year's Queen, Heidi Anderson, has given a lot of her time to Washington High School and is deserving of this honor.

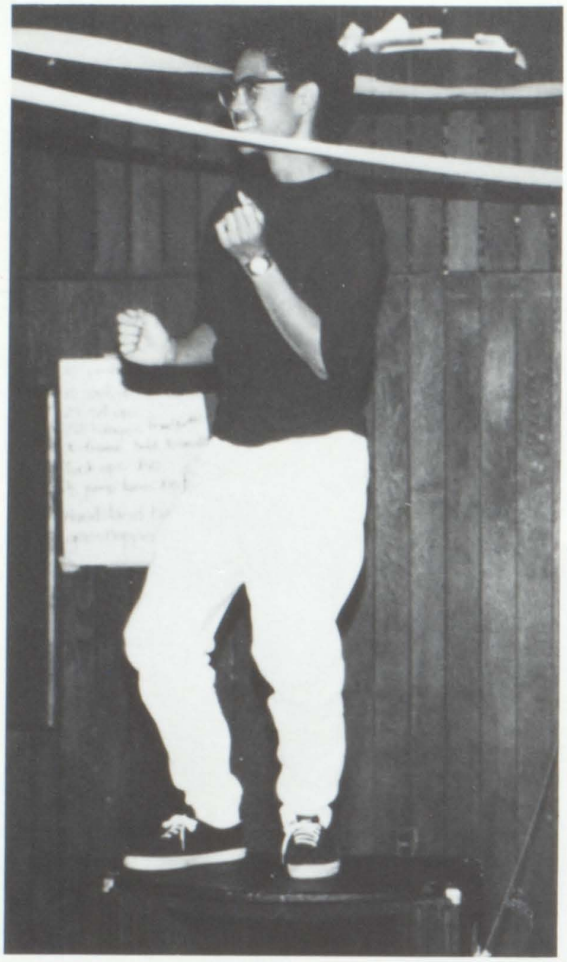
Thanks Heidi, for all of your dedication and hard work.



Style it Rob! Senior Robert Mangrobang found a couple of minutes from D.J.'ing to dance a couple of tunes. Get down Mango!

HELLO dance

WHAT DID YOU THINK OF THE HELLO DANCE?

It was a hella psychoeuphoric experience. The musique was great! There should be chairs though. (chairs? You should try dancing! - from: H.L. & M.K.)

JIMMY CHU

It was a great dance. Especially when I went up there and did the "Get it boy" mix. Everyone was dancing and singing to it. It felt great. I was pumped up.

HOVEY LIAO

Oh, those mix masters Carlo and Hovey are so bad. Gee, we wish we could be as cool as them!

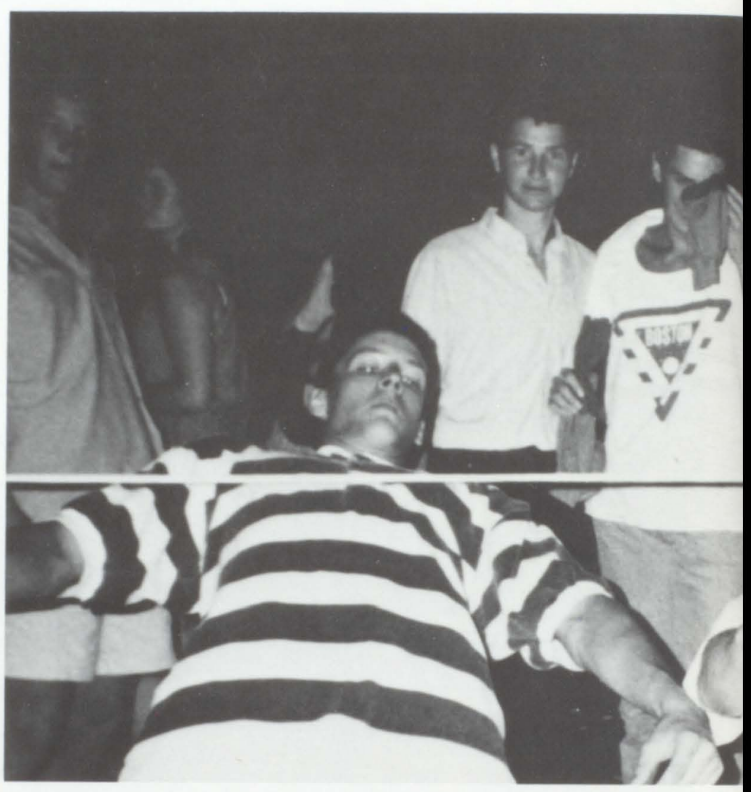
BETH MARSHALL & SARA GHAITH

On my part I don't like dances, but everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. My favorite part of the dance was when Mare Head did the little pelvic movements. Huh Mare?!?

JI SOO KIM

Yo, yo, it was the deffest jam! It was hella fresh! Word!!!

LISA NORDGREN & JULIE SKINNER



The dynamic "limbo" duo. Seniors Travis Digiulio and Chris Watt participate together in the student organized limbo jam. How low can you go?

"No, please! Don't strangle me!" screams Randa Hagan to Gina Beagles, "I'll dance with you!"

We like the cars, the cars that go boom! We're Lisa Lee, Bethany Marshall, Tina Varkey, Mary Kuo, and Ji Soo Kim and we like the boom!

I know you dude! Senior Blake Tinsley is caught in a candid with Amy Holback by yearbook photographers.

Don't smile too hard! Seniors Alyssa Martinez, Jill Houseworth, Leah Wright and Renee Theriault show us their pearly whites.

C'mon Lisa, Show us your big smile! Juniors Lisa Taylor, Janet Guerere, Sarah Rusmussen, Lisa Dennis, and Nikki Williams take time from boogying to pose pretty.

"Hey, don't interrupt our conversation. The gossips just beginning." says Amy Koucky, Sheri Rose, and Becky Baker.

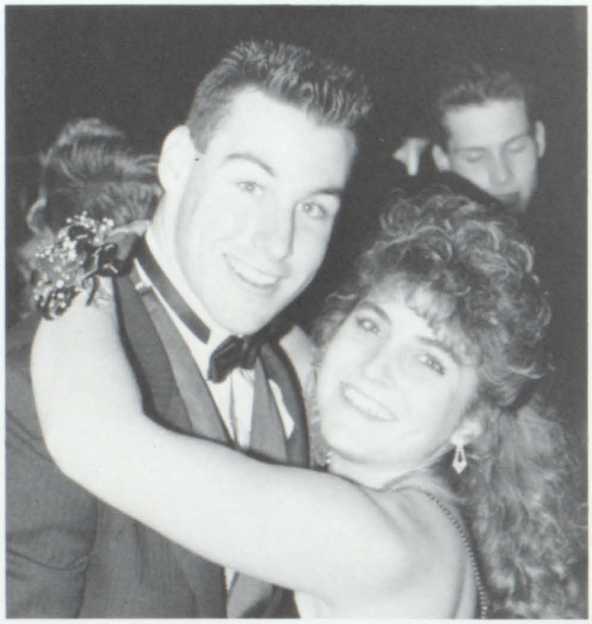
So . . . What Happened?

This year's Winter Ball turned out to be an extremely enjoyable event, due to the sophomore class' well organization. A strong Christmas atmosphere and many colorful decorations made it easy for everyone to have a good time.

"The dance was great, I had a blast with all my friends."
Dustin Bearby

"There was a great turn-up of people at the dance" said Andy Pi (sophomore class president.)

He's mine! Overprotective Senior Jill Kazares is caught grabbing her boyfriend, Senior Brian Maxwell.



Christina Sandoval and date doin' the Hokey-Pokey . . .

"We're having fun on our own," says Andrea Arrow and Michelle Beck gossiping in a corner.

WINTER Ball

That's what it's all about! Hey!

Captured in a moment of sheer happiness, Senior April Probasco "Cha-Chas" the night away.

They love to grove . . . Mike McGee and Venessa McGautha gettin' in to the beat.

1-2-3-1-2-3 . . . Senior Stephanie Vollmer concentrates on her fancy footwork.

VALENTINE

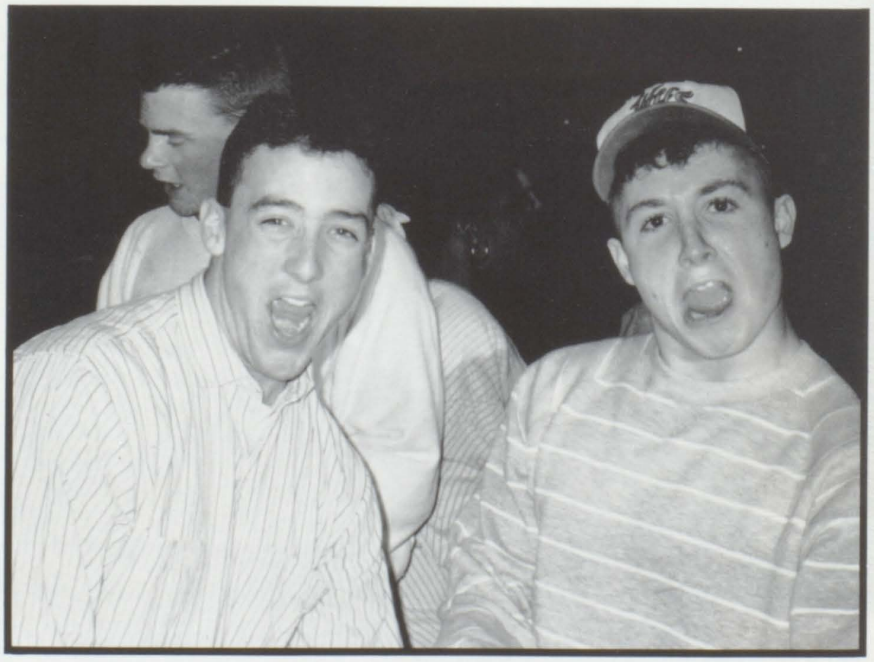
A passionate moment between Page Frakes and Ryan Chilton as they practice for the next Star Search audition.

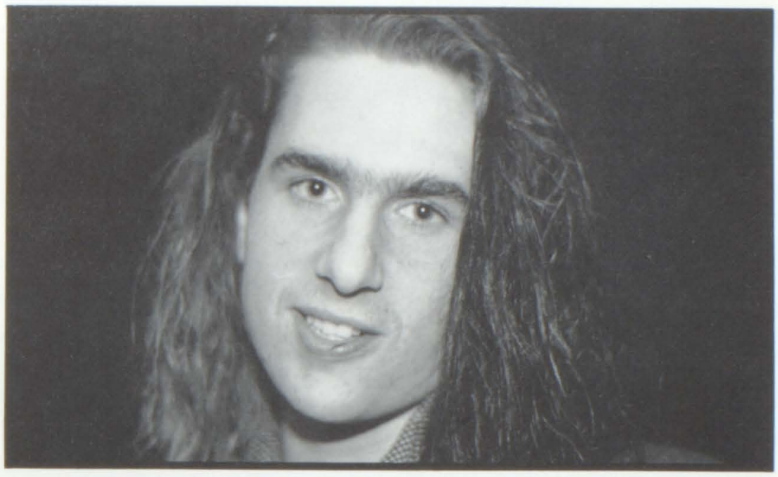
Pose pretty Tina Cox and seniors Becky Sprague, Stephanie Vollmer, Jill Kazares, Brian Maxwell, Rod Greene, Steve Hansen, Laurel Wood, and Craig Wilhelm. You're going to be in the next edition of the one . . . the only . . . Washingtonian! Isn't it exciting?

I LOVE YOU

Get down, get funky, get loose! Moving to the beat are Tiffany DeWitt and Tom Shane, the epitome of the perfect valentine sweethearts.



Yeeeaaah boyee! Is it the Beastie Boys or is it seniors Rod Greene and Jason Bellini?!?

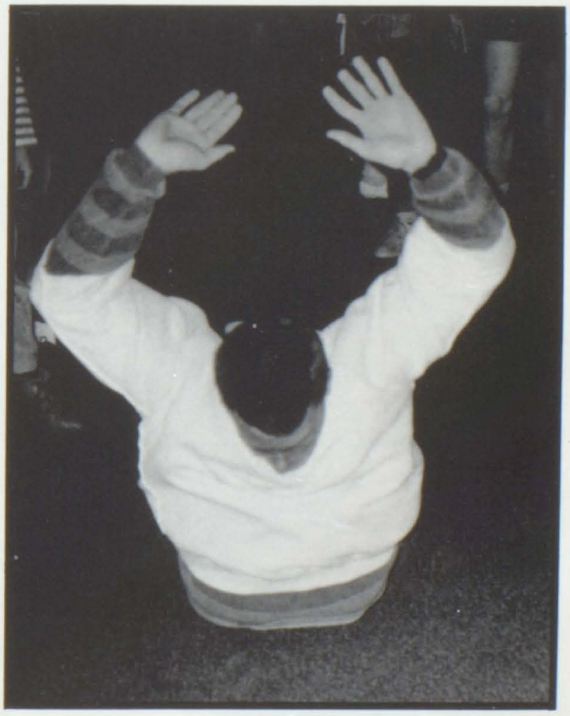


Have you seen this man? Senior Scott Davison was last seen at the Valentine's Dance before he disappeared.

"Oh Joe, you're such a man! You're MY hero!" says junior Jennifer Speed as Anna Jeno eavesdrops.

"I love you." says senior Melissa Ayr while tending to the refreshments.

Hillary Lewis- "Hey, wait? Let me get in this picture!" Brian Yee- "C'mon Rob, you stud baseball player. I can't handle all these gorgeous girls by myself." Holly Spear- "Look Jules, there's a quarter on the floor. Pick it up before anyone sees us."

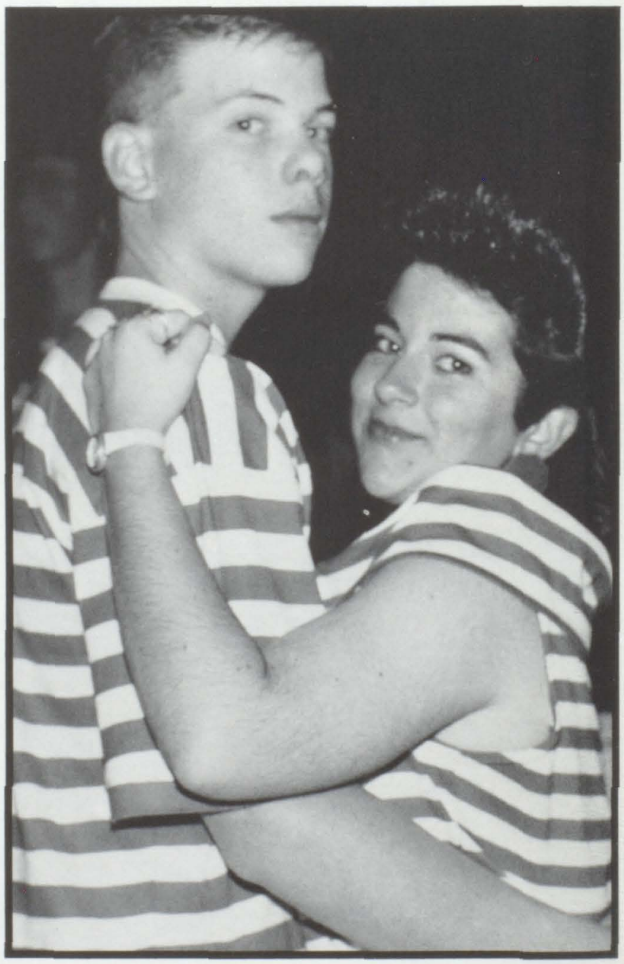


"Ahhh, help! I'm melting! The WHS south gym is devouring me! Someone get me out of this place!" screams Ryan Chilton as he sinks into the floor.

Sadie's

Don't they make a great match? Seniors Lara Tognetti and David Christensen on their way into the dance.

O.K. Renee . . . What's so funny?? Renee Theriault and date Brett Viegelman are definitely having fun.



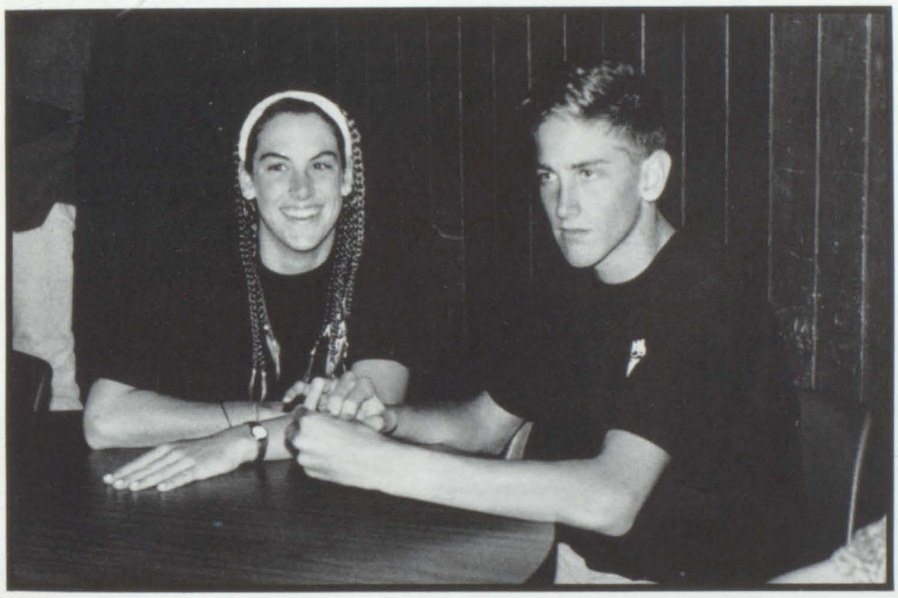
Juniors Maya Burghardt and Dave Aument are having a great time showing off.

Ow . . . how cute! Freshmen Nathan Delgado and Kathy Brea take time out for a slow one.

Junior Darren Hiller entertains his girlfriend, Junior Lisa Dennis with a great joke.

St. Patrick's Day

"For originality, a 10!" Senior Shannon McKay and her date sport their personalized/ designer teeshirts, made especially for this occasion.



"Jim, you look confused!" Senior Stephanie Keller enjoys her people watching while Jim Hassett tries to figure out how Freshmen dance the way they do.

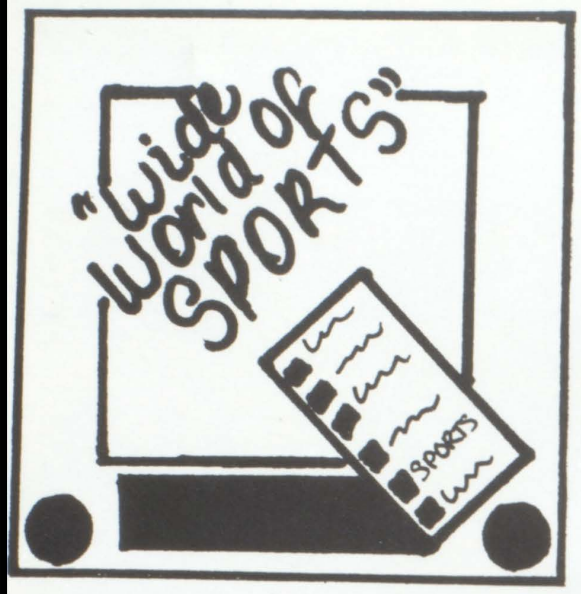
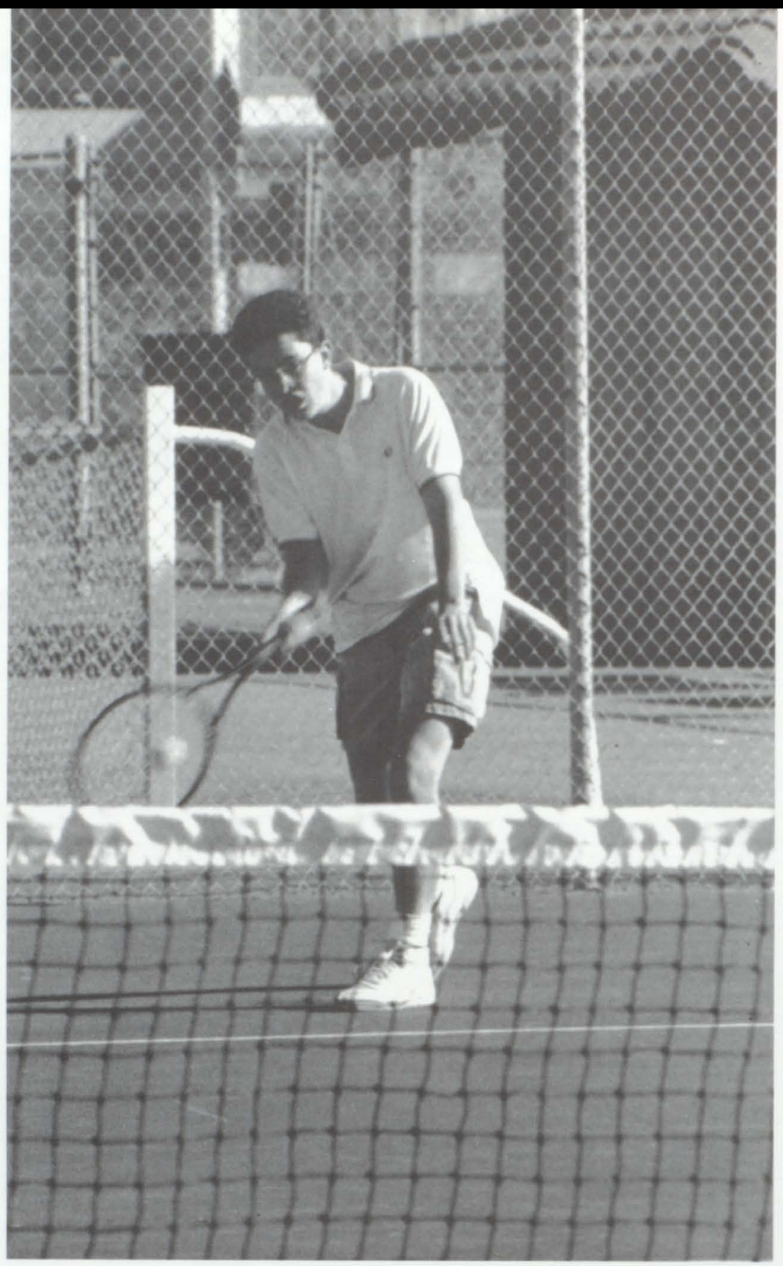
"What's so interesting?" If that table could talk! Senior Terry Chapman and Junior Scott McFarlin are having a deep discussion.

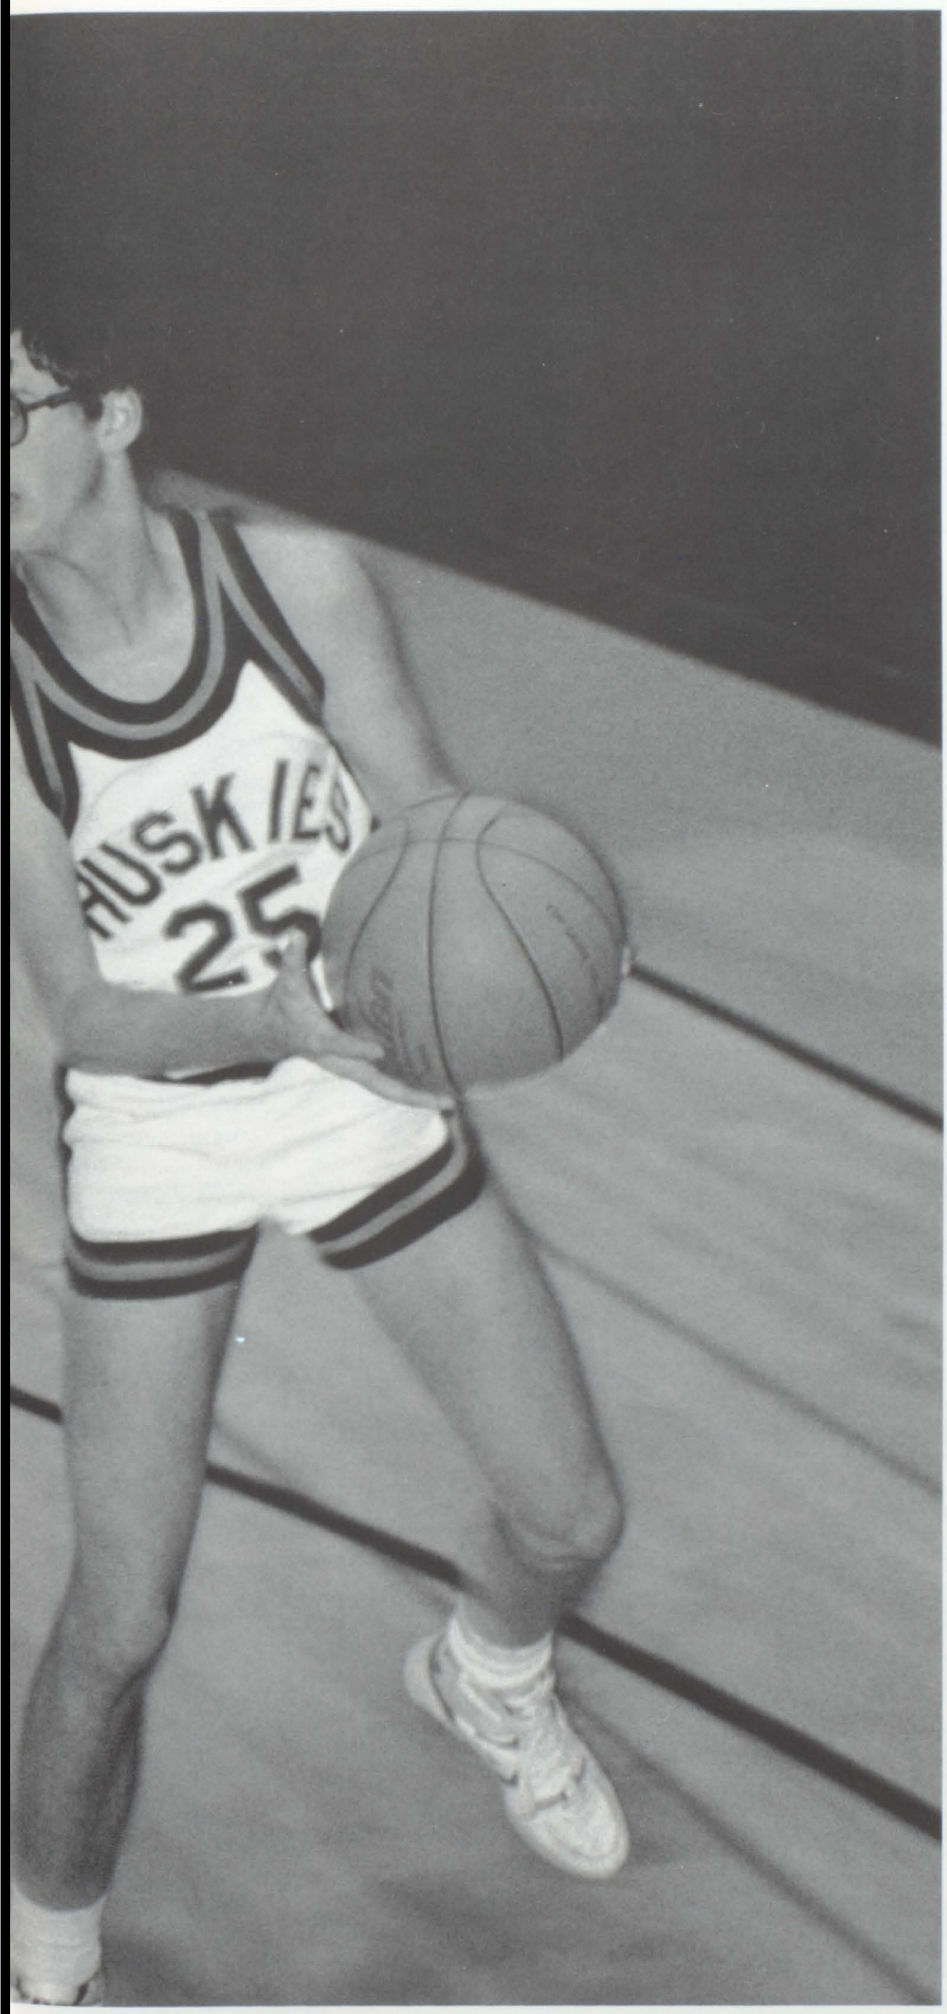


Tennis Anyone? Hard at work is Senior, May-Tyan Wong. Girl's tennis is just one of the sports available to girls during the fall season. Others include gymnastics, volleyball, and cross country.



Boy's tennis is one of the sports offered to guys during the spring. Others include swimming, baseball, track and field, and badmitton. Sophomore, Eric Tognetti, shows off his winning stroke.

Better luck next time! Junior Varsity football player, Jeff Stoermer, slides for the ball but misses it. Football, cross country, and water polo are available to boys in the fall.



Ugh! What a struggle! Passing the ball to a teammate is Sophomore Mark Bettencourt. Basketball, wrestling, and soccer are the boys' choices for winter sports.

Deep in concentration is Freshman Erin Todd. Soccer and basketball are the only choices for girls during the winter season.

Huskies Take MVAL Championship

We all had a feeling we were going to be winners. After a rough week of double days, our team came together as one. Though we lost our first two preseason games, we didn't lose the will to win. We came back to defeat a favored opponent (El Cerrito). This is when the ball started rolling for the Huskies.

Again picked as the heavy underdogs, we went up against Newark ready to kill. The result was a tremendous upset victory for the Huskies(27-6). In the next two weeks we again prevailed with stunning victories over Moreau and Irvington.

What happened next was unbelievable. After pulling a slight victory over us in the closing minutes of the game, Kennedy dimmed our hopes of the championship. But we roared back as a team to destroy Mission in our Homecoming game(47-7).

Our next march up was against the undefeated James Logan. This was our gut-check. This game would probably decide whether or not we would go on to be champs. A feeling of intensity was in the air. This was the game of the year for us. We gave it our all and ended it in a blow-out victory over those not-so-mighty Colts. We ended the season with a win over American.

This created a tie between Logan, Kennedy, and Washington, all battling for first place. The one NCS playoff berth for the MVAL champion would be decided by the luck of the draw. Coach I pulled the winning ticket saying, "the early bird gets the playoff berth, shun." We all had a feeling we would play at least one more game, and we were right when we got to play tough Granada High of Livermore in the first round of NCS. Unfortunately, our dreams of going to the Coliseum for the NCS final were squashed with a narrow loss. Our four years of playing for the Huskies will stay with us forever.

Here are some classic moments from the "All Barb Team":
"Jeremia was a bullfrog."
"Greene's chocolate half/half."
"Genuine Lincoln Mercuryyy."
"Do you know who I am?"
"This team has a lot of impotence."
"Spanish Social Security number."
"Shots!"
"E.T. everytime."

Just Ran Out Of Time

This years J.V. Football team had a very dramatic season, winning most of their games in the fourth quarter. The J.V. Huskies started the year out by winning two out of their three pre-season openers. Possibly their best game of the year, the season opener against Newark Memorial, Where they won by scoring a safety in the final two seconds of a 0-0 game. They ended their season in a fight for the cochampionship against American. They lost that game by one point, after battling back from a 14-0 score at the half, and as Coach I said, "They didn't lose, they just ran out of time." Great year guys!! Best of luck next year, YOU ROOKIES!!!

J.V. Did an outstanding job offensively averaging 20 points a game. These young pups should have a great season next year at the varsity level.

Water polo is not an official sport yet a Washington and there are no other teams in the MVAL, so our team must compete against teams from the San Ramon area. The H_2O polo team placed third this year in the league finals at California High School in San Ramon. The team was led by co-captain Mike Bartoldo and Jim Hassett, who both made All-League, as well as Ty Eddy and co-captain Tony Anselmi, who both made honorable mention All-League. Until water polo is an official sport, it will have to rely on funds from the Booster Club and not from the Athletic Department, where official sports receive their funds.

"OOFF!" exclaims Junior Keith Jeffrey as he's roughed up by a player from California High

CROSS COUNTRY

"So you really think we should do this?" says Stacy Fern to the rest of her team mates. The girls team headed out to a fantastic start and brought home a fifth place title.

"Go get 'em girls." Star runner, Alyssa Martinez, gets off to a great start and finishes with a first place win.

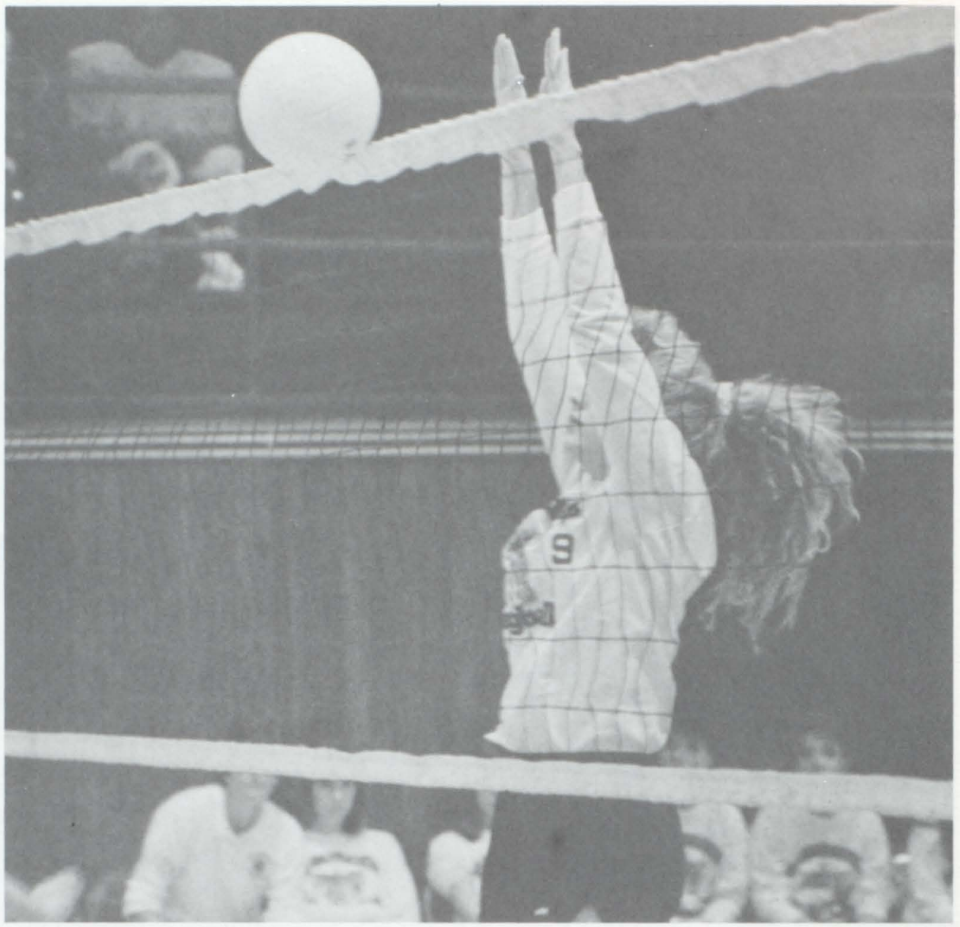
Stars at Their Best

There is an award given to outstanding runners for their achievements. This award is called ALL LEAGUE. The Huskies were fortunate to have three given to them. These runners are Varsity Boys, Mark Gattey (11th Place), Frosh-Soph. Boys, Ken Miguel (7th Place), and Varsity Girls, Alyssa Martinez (4th Place). Alyssa went on to become an NCS Qualifier. Congratulations!!!!!

Sophomore Mark Gattey breaks away from the pack along with Junior Lance Soderman. Cross Country looks fun, but it's a hard sport. Keep up the good work.

VOLLEYBALL



Sophomore, Keri Self, chalks one up for the Huskies as she blocks a ball hit by Newark Memorial's middle blocker. The J.V. team went on to defeat Newark 3-1.

Junior Varsity

THIS YEAR VOLLEYBALL WAS A LOT OF FUN. ESPECIALLY ON THE J.V. TEAM, BECAUSE ITS MORE OF A LEARNING EXPERIENCE THAN ANYTHING ELSE. AS A TEAM WE REALLY HAD TO CONCENTRATE ON OUR GAMES BUT THE FUN NEVER STOPPED! WE PULLED THROUGH THE FIRST ROUND ONLY LOSING ONE GAME. SO THE WHOLE SEASON WAS EXCITING FROM THAT VIEWPOINT. I THINK THAT AS A TEAM WE ENDED STRONG - WE NEVER REALLY QUIT WORKING. THERE IS A LOT OF DEDICATION ON OUR TEAM AND WE COULDN'T HAVE DONE IT WITHOUT SUCH A GREAT COACH LIKE MRS. McKEON. IT'S SAD TO SEE THE SEASON END BECAUSE WE ALL BECAME GOOD FRIENDS, BUT OUR TIES GO BEYOND THE VOLLEYBALL COURT!

THE HUSKY TEAM HAD A PRETTY GOOD YEAR IN '88. OUR CAPTAINS FOR THE SEASON WERE LEAH WRIGHT AND RENEE THERIAUT. FOR SUCH A SHORT TEAM WE HAD GREAT SPIKING ABILITY. CINDY BENEVIDES BECAME KNOWN AS THE HAMMER. LEAH WRIGHT AND MARLENE ROSA HAD A GOOD YEAR TOO. TIFFANY DEWITT AND AMY GETZ GOT UP IN THE MIDDLE BLOCKER POSITION AND HEIDI ANDERSON AND SHANNON KEARNEY TOOK CARE OF OUR RIGHT SIDE. RENEE THERIAUT AND APRIL CORTEZ WERE THE TEAM'S "SETTER FRIENDS". TARA FENNELLO AND JILL HOUSEWORTH (a.k.a. FRICK & FRACK) FINISHED A FOUR YEAR VOLLEYBALL TRADITION WITH STYLE. A FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT FROM TOKYO, MIWA KIKUCHI, KEPT UP OUR MORALE AND HELPED OUT IN THE BACK ROW. LYN BOYER AND BECKY SPRAGUE WERE OUR SERVING SPECIALISTS. BEVERLY LANDRETH CAME THROUGH TO BLOCK FOR US AND MELISSA ALDAMA KEPT US GOING WITH HER SMILE AND PASSING TECHNIQUES. IN PREVIOUS YEARS, OUR SEASON RECORD HAD BEEN BETTER BUT WE BECAME GOOD "BUDDIES" THIS YEAR. WE ALL BECAME "CARROT SISTERS" TOO. OUR SLUMBER PARTY GAVE US MANY MEMORIES. T-P'ING AT THREE A.M. AND TALKING TO "KEN" ON THE QUIJA BOARD BROUGHT US EVEN CLOSER TOGETHER. THE NINE SENIORS THAT ARE LEAVING US NEXT YEAR WILL MISS GOOD'OL HUSKY VOLLEYBALL. GOOD LUCK TO THE RETURNING PLAYERS IN '89!

The time is 2:30 and the first rotation has just begun. Each gymnast keeps running her routines through her mind, wondering if this is the meet that she will excel.

She can hear the rotation being called out on the sound system. Rushing through her head, she worries about not getting hurt on that dangerous new trick. Suddenly, that thought is stopped as she remembers how difficult the Olympic tricks are. "If they can do it, I can do it," a gymnast blurts out. Third and fourth rotation seem to mix. Each and every gymnast has begun to pump her adrenalin, psyching herself up to do her best, wanting that perfect ten.

As she walks into the gym, each gymnast has their head held high and ready to compete. The coach runs over to give her last minute tips and reminders. Everyone is eager to go. Then the judge calls up the first girl. Her adrenalin is pumping faster than ever. Psyching herself up, she begins.

Finishing with her top routine, she laughs at herself wondering why it rattled her brain so much. She knew she could do it, . . . and she did !!!

"How's that for good? Stephanie Vollmer announces proudly. This season, Stephanie has run into a few minor injuries, but has overcome them with an incredible come back.

This year, Washington High varsity girls tennis team once again proved their excellence in the 1988 MVAL season. The Huskies, with strong support from Coach Hankin, ended the season with a 9-5 record, placing third behind Mission San Jose, Moreau, and American.

The Team's #1 single's player Sandra Kim, rested out against many of the league's best players, while #2 Bethany Marshall was out with an injury through most of the first half of the season. The sophomores ruled over the #3 and #4 positions with Tiffany Winger and Alison Saro, both helping the team with a win when it was needed most. Tina Varkey and May-Tyan Wong paired up to lead the doubles contingent in sure wins. Toby Shimizu, Sara Ghaith, Lisa Lee, Angela Tam, and Judy Hu took turns in securing the wins coming from the #2 and #3 doubles positions.

The J.V. tennis team pulled through with an impressive 9-5 record placing them third in the league. Although no freshmen played this year, Coach Hankin is satisfied with their talent and determination. Competition for the 10 J.V. positions was fierce as each of the 20 J.V. positions was fierce as each of the 20 J.V. players had to play challenge matches against each other to be seated. The superb talent of the team, made up of mostly sophomores and juniors, make the future look bright for the team in the years to come. Let's go girls tennis!

A Bright Future

This year's Varsity Boys Basketball team coached by Guin Boggs was one the team would like to forget. After averaging 21 wins a season for the past six seasons, this team suffered through a 6-20 overall record. They finished last in league play with a 2-12 record, 10 games behind league champ Newark-Memorial.

There were some bright spots, however. Senior Tom Nishikawa was second in the league in scoring and Sophomore Dante Bonaparte and Nishikawa were among the league leaders in three point goals. Senior Mike Beretta, Junior Shawn Hansen, and sophomore Jermaine White also played well for the Huskies. With five juniors and four sophomores on this year's team, next year's Huskies look to be a much improved team.

Varsity Baseball

Husky Veterans: Lead A Bright Team With A Bright Future

With the great coaching of Bill Lightfoot and Jesse Jacinto, the 1989 Varsity Baseball team has a good chance of making the Shaughnessy Playoffs. This year's team is strengthened by the return of three seniors and three juniors from last year's team that went a dismal 3-11 in league play, good for seventh place in the MVAL. The 1989 team hopes to reverse the last two years of losing and make Husky Baseball the strong tradition it once was. The strong points of this year's team is a powerful pitching staff backed by an experienced infield. The pitching is led by Senior Aaron Addison, Junior Mike O'Dell, and Lawrence Abrego, all returning lettermen. The defense behind them will be solid, consisting of Seniors Dustin Bearby and Todd Houchins, as well as Addison, O'Dell, and Abrego. Another strong point is the catching of Junior Travis West, the sixth returning letterman. With all these strengths, it looks to be a good year for Husky Baseball.

"This one's going downtown!" Sophomore Matt Nelson prepares to launch the next pitch into orbit.

This year marks the return of junior varsity baseball to Washington. For the past couple of years, the team was a frosh-soph team. What the change means is that juniors may now participate in baseball at either the varsity or junior varsity level; but we don't have any juniors on this year's team. This year also is a first in that it is Eric Lutz's first year as coach. Coach Lutz is a 1986 graduate of WHS (yes seniors, when we were freshmen, he was a senior) who hopes to rekindle the winning spirit back in our baseball program. He will have a very young team to work with, preparing them for future seasons with varsity. Even though they have a lot of inexperience, this year's team should have a good season due to their hard work and dedication.

Get off a little more. Freshman Don Quigley takes his lead behind the Bishop O'Dowd first baseman.

"Here's how not to hit . . ." explains Freshman David Rosa. "You don't want to look at the pitcher . . ."

The captains for this years team are Melissa Aldama and Apryl Cortez, both Juniors. Some strong players on this years squad include Apryl Cortez at short and third base, Jackie Hicks on the mound, and Ellen Holkenbrink at first base. This years team is very young with only 2 seniors returning from last years team. This team also boasts 2 starting freshmen, Jennifer Fritz and Stephanie Shaffer. The girls should be in for a great season! Good luck!

"Third base!" Junior Apryl Cortez calls out to the left fielder.

"I'm ready!" says the first baseman, "Plays at first!"

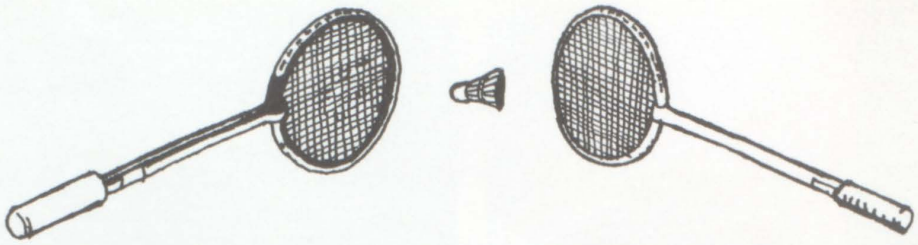
BADMINTON



W.H.S. Badminton

Badminton is considered the national game in Malaysia, Indonesia, and Thailand and a player is treated as we in the U.S. would treat a football or baseball hero. Badminton will be a sport in the next olympic games. To play with any success requires coordination, stamina, and thoughtfulness.

This years badminton team hopes to see success. Coach Paul Arvin states that this year there are a lot of new players. Along with new players there is a new mood created out on the courts. Everyone is full of enthusiasm. Some key players even stay hours after practice just to continue playing. They play because they like to play, not for the prestige. Overall, badminton is expected to do well and wish them good luck!

Out For Revenge

With the winningest record on campus, the Husky boys swim team was disappointed with their lowest league standing ever last year, finishing in third place behind Mission and Moreau. This season the Huskies are out for revenge and are looking for a very strong season. With a very talented and experienced squad, this year's team looks very tough to beat. When you have fourth year returning lettermen, national caliber swimmers, and above all, the dedication to become the best, then you can call yourself the best. Washington's boys swim team can call themselves the best. By competing in a league of eight very competitive teams, the Washington High School swimmers will be tested to the limit. With their strength and depth, we know who will prevail.

"Shoot the gap!" says head coach, Jerrod Teyshak.

Senior runningback, Carrie Boudreau breaks outside.

Powderpuff football . . . What an experience. The true accomplishment of our Junior year was not simply that we were finally upper classmen, but that we would be the ones to battle against the Seniors one cold night in February at Tak. This year as Seniors, powderpuff meant even more to us. It is tradition for the experienced Seniors to come out on top, as we did over the Juniors in the scrimmage with our terrific 20-6 victory. that was our chance to give the underclassmen a taste of what they would have to deal with when we met for our final confrontation.

As a small team of 20 dedicated members, we worked to perfect our best plays from the previous year and to learn some new tricky moves. But trying to deceive the unexperienced '90 squad was not our goal. Our motto, "Quality not Quantity" led us through those tough sets of 40's designed to build our stamina. Having only 20 team members, many of us started on offense, defense, and both special teams. That was one strike against us. By the end of the 4th quarter, the starting 0 was down but definitely not out. We gave that game our all, and though we lost in the end, we hit harder, ran farther, and pushed those Juniors until we were dead from exhaustion.

I'd like to thank our head coach, J-Rod Teyshak for being the best coach p-puff history has ever seen! Woody, Cher, DiGigolo, and Coach Balls, you guys taught us everything we know! Remember: "Play your polirion!". We should've steamrollllled those Juniors! P-Puffers of '89 are the best no matter what the scoreboard said!

"Let's play football, we'll gossip later," says Junior quarterback Crysta Cripe.

Looking tough is Senior quarterback Tiffany Dewitt who checks over the offense.

1st row L-R. Anjali Saraf, Rebecca Hodson, Jill Englestad, Lisa Manrique, Debbie Chestnut, Crysta Cripe, Rachel Lunn, Angela Tam. 2nd row. Lisa Dennis, Melissa Frost, Wendi Windes, Robin Medallia, Michelle Viscuso, Tina Enriquez, Karen Hinkel. 3rd row, Melissa Crawford, Jenny Speed, Jenna Hamrick, Robert Riley, Darren Hiller, Lisa Kramer, Amy Mallory, Anna Jeno. 4th row. Diane Chavez, Amy Coffman, Ryan Keys, Sean Nowicki, Mike Tostado, Gil Frakes, Kevin Whigham, Eden Negash, Stacy Adams. Top row. Amy Getz, Marlene Rosa, Becky Alves, Jennifer Stone, Gia Solari, Kristen Hild, Susie Jagger, Ana DeSousa.

"So where do you get your hair done?" asks Hillary Lewis.

Leading the offense is Junior quarterback Stacy Adams.

"Are we sexy or what?"

"Stop pushing so hard Brian!!" screams Becky.

Looks good Seniors, you girls did GREAT!!!

Powderpuff Cheer

"Look out Dallas, here we come! We got the looks, the talent, and we can dance!"

Lance Soderman shows the crowd his best side.

"Come on shake it! Come on come on sh-shake it!" Tony Anselmi instructs Rob Mangrobang.

"We must! We must! We must increase our bust!" Exclaim the girls.

Joel "Dolly Parton" Means captivates the crowd with his graceful ardor.

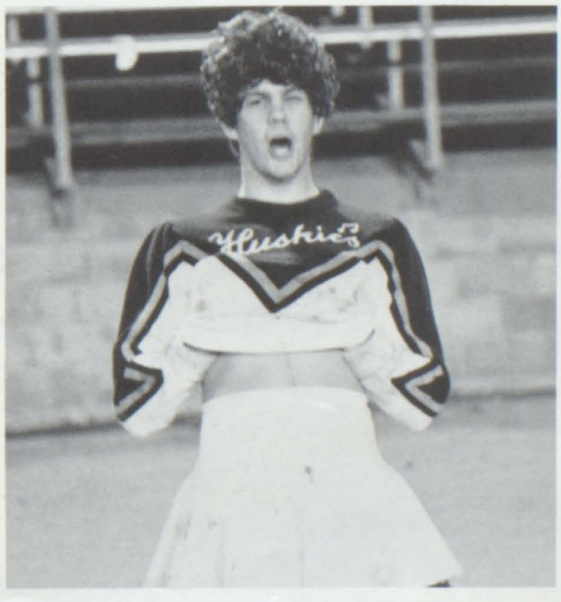
Hey, Ty. You're looking great tonight. How about you and me gettin' together later on?

Robert Frakes passes out after an exhausting half-time performance.

We feel good! Oh, we feel so good! UH!

Hey you guys, stop jumping around and help us with the pyramid!

Chris Watt gives the crowd one heck of a blow.



Once again Mike Bartoldo exemplifies his great form in the breast stroke.

The Leadership Force—On The Move

David McCoy, Mark Stewart, Bi Nah, and Kathy Arreaga. Do these names ring a bell?? These freshmen class officers were overwhelmed with excitement of the upcoming school year. The energetic, outgoing students felt as though they could contribute the most to their high school career by running for a class office.

"Representing my Freshman class is an honor," said President David McCoy, "We have a very strong class and I'm looking forward to a great four years." The class of 1992 is a class with growing spirit and ambition. Their dedicated leaders hope to bring their class together in a unified bond which will contribute to the overall pride of Washington.

Their four, hard-working advisers predict great things for their call. They are expected to grow stronger throughout the coming years.

Today's Freshmen leaders are tomorrow's student leaders,and who knows? . . . Maybe even future world leaders.

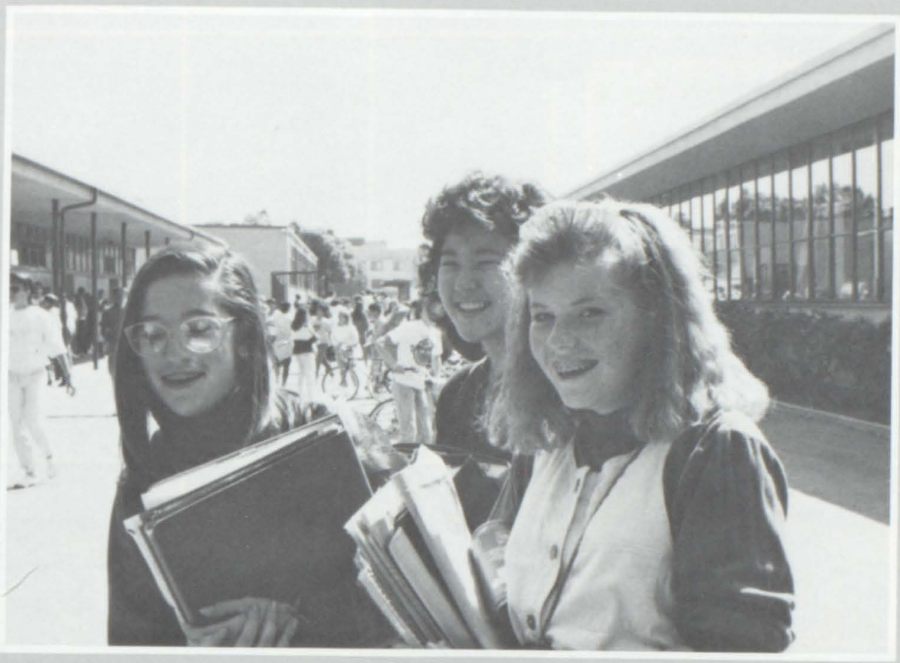
"School is just TOO much fun!!"
Amy Shores, Bonnie Nishihara, and Erin Todd show their over-enthusiasm.

Centennial Puppies



Let's travel back in time, about 100 years ago. The year is 1892. A young lady is stepping up to receive her diploma. Her parents watch proudly; their daughter has graduated at the top of her class. Wait!! She's the only one graduating!! That must be May Burdic, the very first student to ever graduate from Washington High School.

This year's freshman class is unique from all other previous classes. The Class of 1992 will celebrate as the 100th graduating class of W.H.S. The year May graduated, there were only 22 students in the entire school. By the year 1992, approximately 350 seniors will graduate with 1500 students, in all, attending the school.

So These 9th graders aren't just any typical, everyday freshmen. They're special. When their greatest moment arrives—The day they receive a diploma, much like May Burdic's—the pride that Washington has built, that pride in excellence, will be shown in a great, explosive, centennial celebration.

The Cry Of A Freshman

This looks so big, I can't believe how small a Jr. High could be.
Instead of lines of bikes, I see
Every kind of car there ever could be.
There's so much to do, I'm beginning to go bonkers.
But no more book bags, we finally got lockers!
I may be called names or thrown in the trash
But this is tradition—freshmen always come last.
The rallies, the games, I'm here! I'm so glad!
It all seems so different—the most fun I've had.
Being in High School is really quite neat.
Being a Husky can never be beat.
I can't even wait, to come back here again.
But I'll never forget the year, I was just a Freshman.

"Hey!! We're not Freshmen! We're PRE-Sophomores!"
Justin Kennedy, Jason Ramos, Greg Wullenjohn, Don Quigley, James Elola, and John Tam try to show their true manliness.

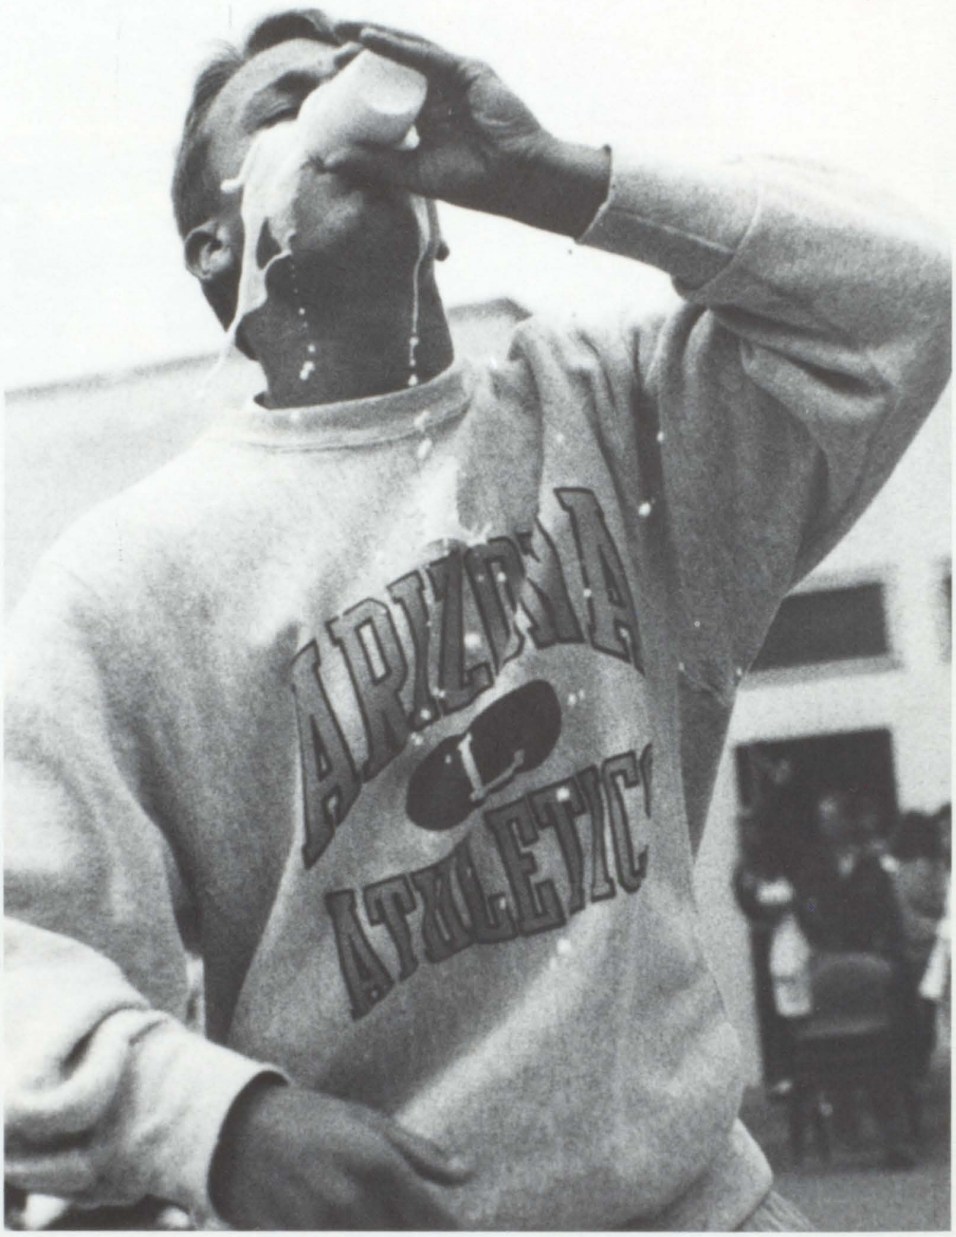
Milk does a body good! Tom Shane's graceful performance in the cookie scarfing, milk drinking contest in the first set of lunch time games, led them to a third place win over the freshmen.



When you become a Sophomore, you realize the importance of doing your homework and creating better study habits. You realize that along with freedoms of high school life come more responsibilities.

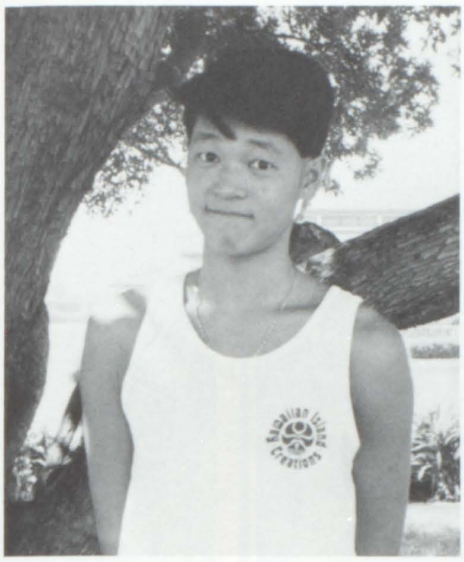
Sophomores Unite



Andy Pi, President

Melissa Taylor, Vice-President

Being a sophomore is not too much different than being a freshman. Even though we are no longer the youngest, we are still looked upon as "babies". Although most of the teasing has stopped, we are still considered underclassmen, and so therefor forced to "take our due punishment".

Making the big switch to sophomores was a good experience for most of us. We now know a lot more people, are more familiar with the campus, and are no longer considered social outcasts. Our homework is harder, but our teachers are nicer. There is even a bit of class spirit!

Despite problems we've faced in the past, I feel confident that we are pulling togethter into a unified team. As juniors, I feel that we will become a strong class, united as the class of 1991!

Kevin, are you having a bad day? Did mom put starch in your underwear? Did you burn your Poptarts? Was the Student Center out of gum? The stresses of student life are often hard to deal with. This year Washington set up a peer counseling group that provides a positive atmosphere for students to discuss their problems. Ms. Polland, who organized the group, is very excited about the groups success and hopes it will be even stronger next year.

Countdown . . . on the count of three . . . let's hear it, JUNIORS- VICTORY! This has become a very familiar cheer to us. But it wasn't always that way. The first time we heard it, as Freshmen, we didn't even understand what the cheerleaders were saying. The result was an embarrassing moment of silence, often ridiculed by the upperclassmen. As Sophomores we knew what was supposed to happen, but still weren't comfortable with the expected displayance of excitement. This year we're screaming and shouting and showing our pride. As we learn and as we grow, we are joining together. The fun times and the sad times we experience with each other bond us into one united class. Our snowball of spirit will continue to grow as time goes on. We have experienced victory in the past and victory will be ours in the future. We are the strong; we are the proud; we are the mighty class of ninety!

Junior prom, powderpuff, some of us even get parking stickers! What does this mean? It means we are Juniors- finally upperclassmen!!! As Freshmen and Sophomores we longed for the sophistication of this title. Now we have made it. The year to begin making big decisions about colleges, to crack down on your school work to raise your G.P.A., to take the P.S.A.T. and possibly the S.A.T. in Spring, and to make countless trips to your counselor's office for advice. Many people claim this is the hardest year, but we are all determined to make it- and we will!

Even though we've all had a great junior year, the anxiety to be a Senior still grew inside of us. However, no matter what title we're given (Freshmen, Sophomore, JUNIOR, Senior) we will always have that awesome spirit of the class of 1990!

My Most Embarrassing Moment . . .

"One time during my sophomore year, I had been walking in front of the science wing at lunch. All the seniors had been sitting on that bench facing the classrooms. All of a sudden, someone opened up one of the doors - I walked right into it, then bounced back off." - Renee Theriault

"One night I went Pee-Wee golfing with a bunch of friends. And you know those big volcano ones? Well, I was walking over the top of one and got my foot caught in the hole — my face was on the ground." -Becky Sprague

"I was walking down the hall when Rod Greene ran past me. Dustin Bearby came running after him —— but didn't see me and struck me. I landed on my elbows and butt — my elbows looked like baseballs afterwards." - Dina Xavier

"It was during swimming my freshman year. My right arm is stronger than my left. When I had to swim across the pool I ended up going into the other lanes." - Greg Leonard

"My junior year at the Homecoming football game. Jeff Rishel, Jim Wilson and Mike Selbo picked me up and threw my shoes down on the field." - Stephanie Keller

Robyn Stewart- When we won spirit week.
Leah Wright- When I made Varsity swimming my freshman year.
Dina Xavier- Beating Mission three times last year in soccer.
Greg Leonard- Representing WHS at the school board meeting. I got to play Robin Leach.
Chris Watt- When the yearbooks came out last year and it was my cover!
Stephanie Keller- Sophomore year when we beat Mission after ten years in gymnastics and I cried because I was so happy. Also when Leila and I got MVP for swimming.
Page Frakes- Sophomore year MVALS for swimming a hot performance.
Jason Bellini- When we beat Newark Memorial and Logan this year in football.
Jill Kazares- When our gymnastics team our sophomore year beat Mission, for the first time in ten years, by .2 points. Also getting a 9.05 on floor this year at MVALS.

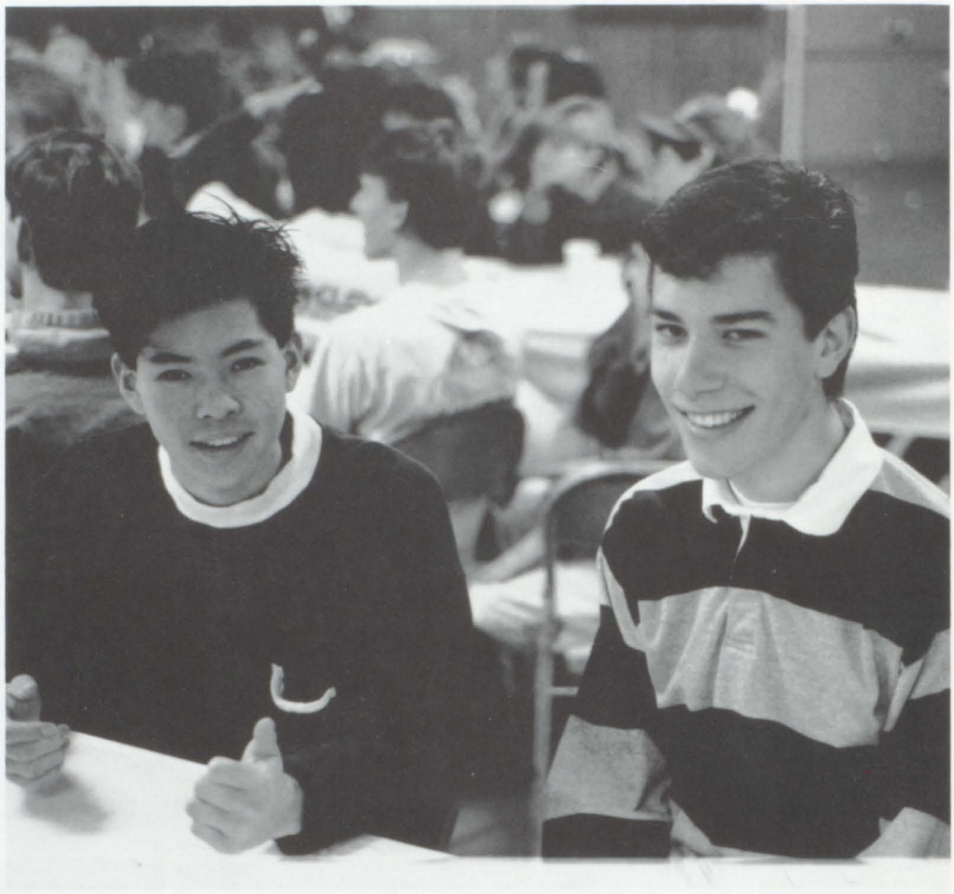
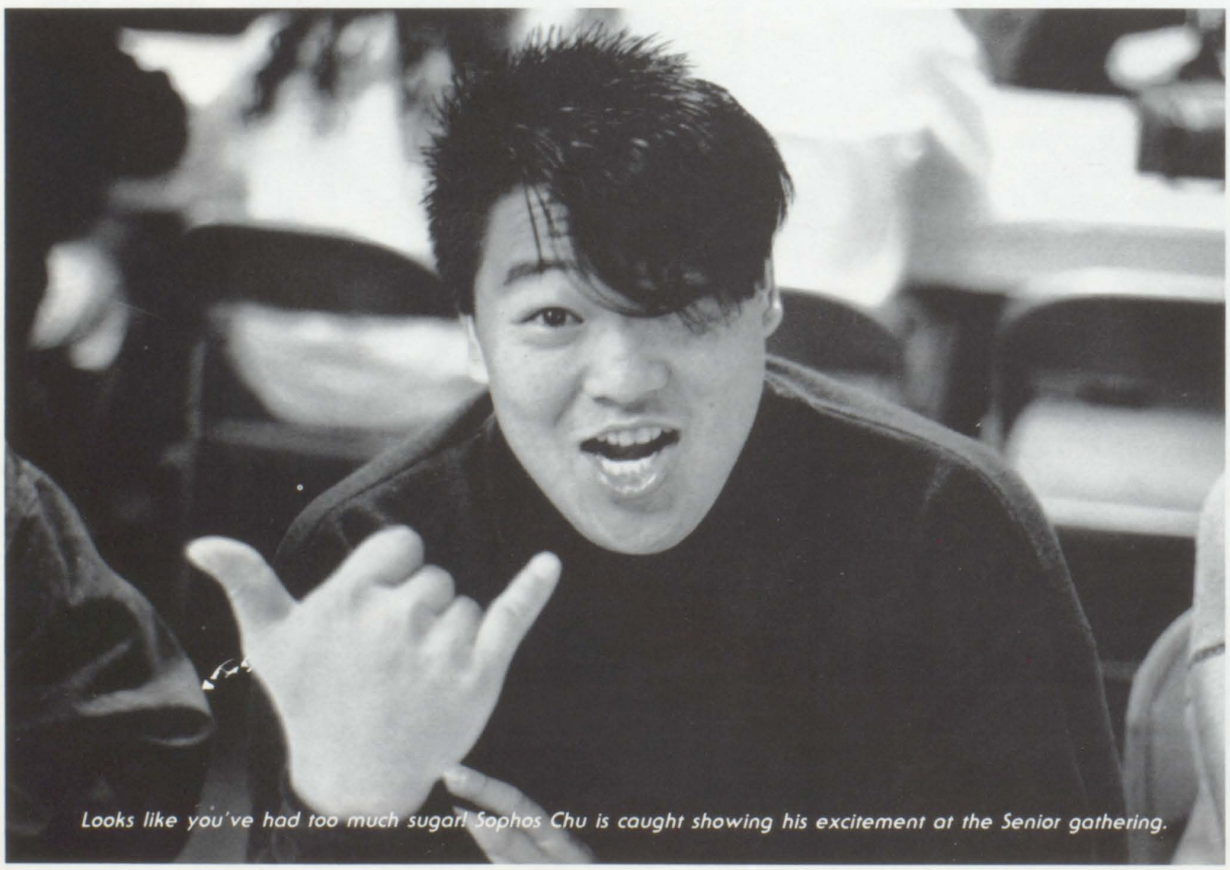
SENIOR Breakfast !!

It's O.K. Mike, we'll find you a seat. Mike Stinchfield enjoys the morning breakfast even without a chair.



"... we didn't do it", say Darin Tsujimoto and Peter Zlatnik looking suspicious of a crime unseen.



Looks like you've had too much sugar! Sophos Chu is caught showing his excitement at the Senior gathering.

265 Seniors attended the traditional Senior Breakfast which was held on February 15. Although it's not a tradition to arrive at school on time, not one Senior was late in arriving at the Newark Pavillion.

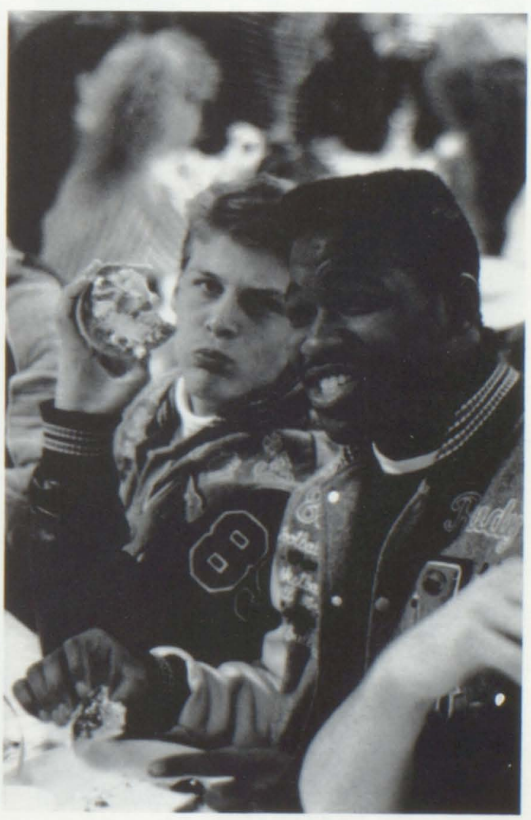
The Pavillion was creatively decorated with peach and white streamers and balloons and the tables were covered with peach and white carnations.

While the Seniors filled their tummies in "Continental Breakfast" style, announcers Greg Leonard and Joy Cassani kept them in suspense as they presented the "Senior Favorites" awards! A certain anticipation and excitement accompanied each presentation as the audience awaited the announcement!

Thanks to the huge effort of the P.T.S.A., Mrs. McKay, Mr. Mangini, and the Senior Class Officers, the 1989 Senior Breakfast was an awesome success!

Is it him? . . . Yes Ladies and Gentlemen, . . . Phil Olson is the new winner of the 1989 Bullwinkle look-alike contest.

The large turnout of seniors and the well prepared breakfast made the gathering an extremely enjoyable event.



"These are the best bagels and creamcheese we've ever eaten" say food connisseurs Dustin Bearby and Rudy Beasely.

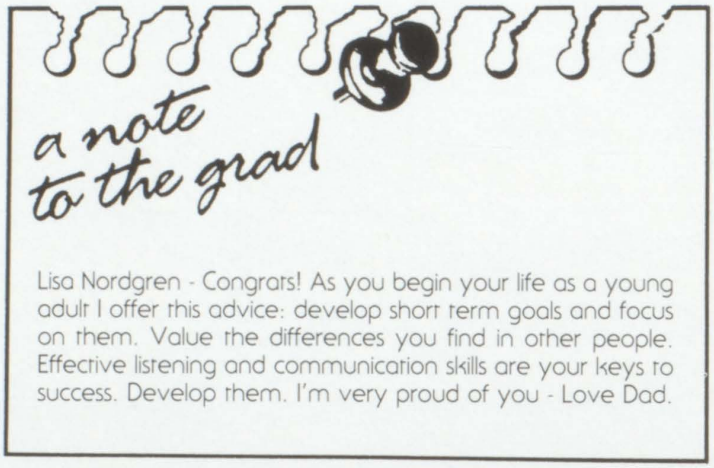
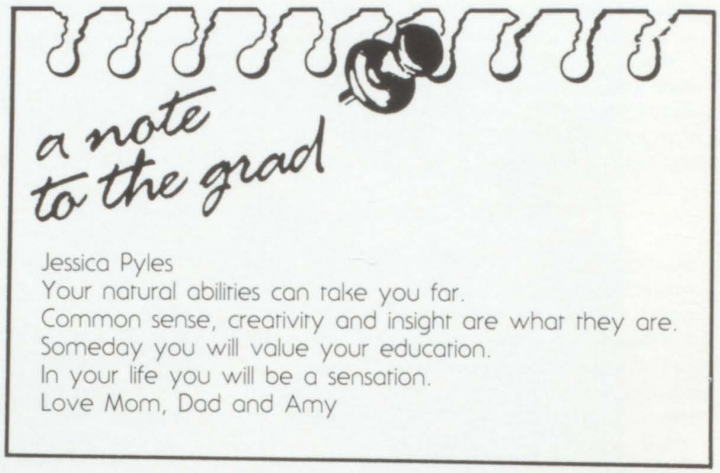
Congratulations on a job well done! You worked really hard, but you still had fun. We know you'll succeed in all that you do, 'Cuz you are special, Renee, and we love you!
MOM, DAD and JOE



Lisa Nordgren - Congrats! As you begin your life as a young adult I offer this advice: develop short term goals and focus on them. Value the differences you find in other people. Effective listening and communication skills are your keys to success. Develop them. I'm very proud of you - Love Dad.



Jessica Pyles
Your natural abilities can take you far.
Common sense, creativity and insight are what they are.
Someday you will value your education.
In your life you will be a sensation.
Love Mom, Dad and Amy

You came to us so pretty and fair,
Your lovely green eyes and flaxen hair.
Bouncing and playing, each day was a joy.
The wonders around you like one big toy.
Now you're grown and with a tear we shed,
As your life unrolls and you go an ahead. Mom & Dad

a note to the grad

Tina Lester - I'm so proud of you. Graduating from H. S. is an achievement but just a stepping stone for you. I know you will succeed at whatever you do. You are one of the most "together" people I know. I love you and who you have become.
Love Mom

The 4 seasons with Lisa Nordgren: Spring - seeing you at birth was like a breath of spring, you were a beautiful bud of happiness for your Dad and I. Summer - seeing you grow up like the summer sun, full of sunshine. Winter - your teenage years have been like the uncertainity of winer, stormy and wet. Fall - like the fall colors you have turned into a beautiful person, inside and out. I love the 4 seasons and I love. Mom

"Craig, you can be in our club now!" says Lanette Amaral and Geoff Wong. The class of eighty-nine has a unity no one can separate.

Empty? The main hallway at WHS is usually crowded with students. But, as summer draws near and we say "Good-bye" this familiar hallway stands empty and without activity.

Like Sands Through The Hourglass . . .

The Days of Our Lives here at Washington High School are the Wonder Years in every students life. Never again will we be the Young and the Restless. As students, we have endured many Growing Pains. Yet, the general Heartbeat here at WHS is always a spirited one. The 1988-1989 school year has been wonderful and full of excitement. And as we come to the end of yet another year, there is much to look forward to. The Seniors are saying "Amen" now that graduation is here. The Juniors are on their Highway to Heaven for the Senior Year is the best. We have all formed lasting Family Ties with out friends as the year progressed. We've shared Cheers, when our Varsity football team beat Logan 40-7, and we've shared tears when friends move on to college or other schools. We learned the joy of being a Husky when the football team came to a Win, Lose, or Draw situation. WHS was lucky to draw the one straw that sent them to the NCS playoffs over rivals Kennedy and Logan. At Homecoming it became obvious that the Seniors will always be the Head of the Class. And, Day By Day we learn more about those Freshmen that enter as Perfect Strangers. Hopefully you have all formed Loving, Laverne and Shirley type friendships that will last forever. Some of you, while playing the Dating Game, might even have formed a Jonie Loves Chachi relationship. These are definitely the Happy Days. The Seniors are moving on to Another World, and the Juniors need only to follow the Guiding Light of those before them. One must learn to take One Day at A Time and deal only with Current Affairs. If you are ever in Jeopardy remember you only have One Life to Live.

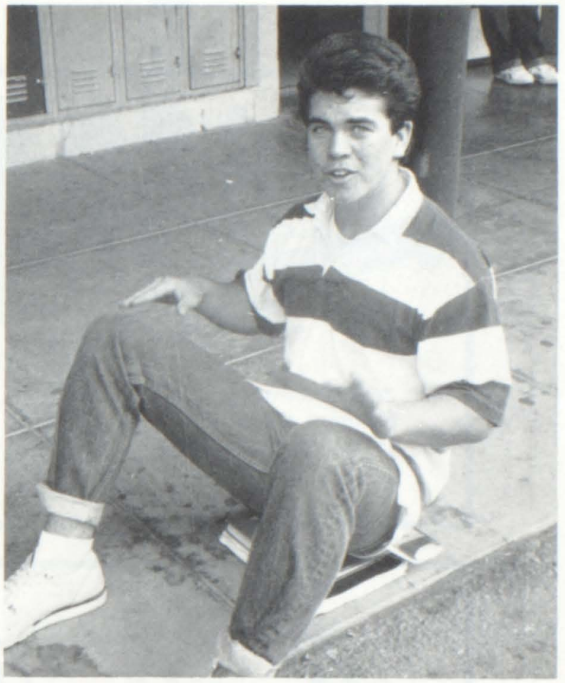
Dustin, do you need a bib? Attempting to eat chocolate pudding is Senior Dustin Bearby. Each class had one blindfolded member feeding the two other students. The Seniors easily won this food competition.

Airband!! Joe Hedgecock and his band, including their dog, put in a fine performance in this years lip sink contest. Airbands are a lot of fun and were a great success this year.



What are you trying to say, Ken Davis? Are you implying that books are made for sitting and not studying? That's what I thought!

First Impressions: A Cycle Of Class

FRESHMEN!! Every ninth graders nightmare. Remember that first day of school, sitting in the North Gym during P.E. and hearing the shower bell? You immediately stood up to begin your journey to your next class only to be startled by the famous calls of the upper classmen. This is just one of the hardships of being a first timer in high school. You spend your days trying not to look like a "Freshman." You immediately learn where you're allowed to go and where you're not. Such as the benches in front of the Science Wing. Any Freshmen walking by is subjected to having food, pennies, and other various objects hurled at them.

As if being in a brand new school wasn't enough to worry about. Instead of attending a school with merely 450 students, the Freshmen are now faced with 1500. And they all look big and intimidating! If you're lost you learn that the Seniors are not the ones to ask for directions because you will most likely find yourself in the opposite direction you ought to be going.

But never fear! Once you are a Sophomore you will feel that the pranks you found humiliating as a Freshman are now hilarious! You feel that because you are no longer a Freshman, you are superior. You might even have the nerve to sit on the "bench" until a far superior Senior comes and kicks you off. And you realize that although you are no longer a Freshman you are still not very high on the totem pole. Towards the end of your Sophomore year you start thinking seriously because the PSAT is just around the corner.

Your Junior year is spend studying, studying, and studying more. You quickly learn that your Junior year is the hardest year in high school. It is also the year that you feel the pride of being a Husky. You begin thinking that you have a chance to beat the Seniors in Spirit Week. Think again! You get to participate in numerous activities including the Powder Puff football game played by the Juniors and the Seniors. You are now allowed to sit on the "bench", but only if you sit on the opposite side of the Seniors. Probably the most exciting event is the Junior Prom. This takes place in the North Gym after hours of hard work, planning, and decorating. You were disappointed when you learned that it had to be held in the North Gym but were completely surprised as you walked through those double doors. You found the Gym completely changed, and it now looks like an enchanted ball room. Don't get too lost in all of the fun and excitement because SAT's are calling and colleges are demanding high scores.

Your Senior year is one of decisions and of procrastination. You learn how to put things off until the last possible moment. You get caught up in the many Senior activities such as the Senior Breakfast. This is when the Senior Favorites are announced. The Senior Picnic is a fun-filled day usually spent at the waterslides. Senior Fling includes a trip to Disneyland where you celebrate Grad Night with all your friends. Your Senior Ball is the only off campus dance. It's your last Husky activity and one you've looked forward to for a long time. And then comes the day where you've reached your final goal- Graduation. As the Freshmen become Sophomores, the Sophomores become Juniors, the Juniors become Seniors, the Senior Class moves on, and a new Freshmen Class begins . . . and so goes the cycle at Washington High School.
